

Contents

|   |    |
|---|----|
| Acknowledgments                      | ix |
| Author's Preface                     | xi |
| I Prologue                                  |    |
| 1 On Plants, or the Origin of Our World     | 3  |
| 2 The Extension of the Domain of Life       | 7  |
| 3 On Plants, or the Life of the Spirit      | 12 |
| 4 Toward a Philosophy of Nature             | 17 |
| II Leaf Theory: The Atmosphere of the World |    |
| 5 Leaves                                    | 25 |
| 6 Tiktaalik roseae                   | 29 |
| 7 In Open Air: Ontology of the Atmosphere   | 35 |
| 8 The Breath of the World                   | 54 |
| 9 Everything Is in Everything               | 66 |

Contents

|    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
|    | III Theory of the Root: The Life of the Stars |     |
| 10 | Roots   | 77  |
| 11 | The Deepest Are the Stars                     | 86  |
|    | IV Theory of the Flower: The Reason of Forms  |     |
| 12 | Flowers                                       | 99  |
| 13 | Reason Is Sex                                 | 105 |
|    | V Epilogue                                    |     |
| 14 | On Speculative Autotrophy                     | 113 |
| 15 | Like an Atmosphere                            | 119 |
|    | Notes   | 123 |