

1	Introducing the Mosaic of Integration Theory	1
	Thomas Diez and Antje Wiener
	The Relevance of Integration Theory	1
	The Dual Purpose of this Book	1
	What is Integration Theory?	2
	Why Study Integration Theory?	4
	Integration Theory: A Broad Overview	6
	Phases of European Integration Theory	6
	Approaches Covered in this Book	11
	Studying Integration Theory	14
	Contexts of Theoretical Development	14
	Competing or Complementary Approaches?	15
	The Functions of Theory	17
	The Areas of Theory	18
	The Mosaic of Integration Theory	19
	Reviewing Integration Theory	20
	The Structure of the Chapters	20
	Past, Present, and Future	21
	Notes	22
	Study Questions	22

PART ONE Explaining European Integration

2	Federalism	25
	Michael Burgess
	Introduction	25
	Federalism and European Integration	27
	The Federal Idea	27
	Federalism, Federation, and Confederation	29
	Federalist Theory and Practice	31
	Three Strands of Federalism after the Second World War	31
	Comparative Federalism and the EU	33
	Liberal Intergovernmentalism and Federalism	35
	Federalism and the Constitutional Evolution of the EU	36
	Federalism and the Enlargement of the EU	39

Conclusion	42
Guide to Further Reading	43
Study Questions	44
3 Neofunctionalism	45
Arne Niemann with Philippe C. Schmitter
Introduction	45
Intellectual Roots	45
Early Neofunctionalism	46
Definition of Integration	47
Underlying Assumptions	47
The Concept of Spillover	49
Criticisms	51
Modified Neofunctionalist Accounts	53
Most-likely Cases and the Conditions for Spillover	57
Test Case: Enlargement	61
Conclusion	63
Notes	64
Guide to Further Reading	65
Study Questions	66
4 Liberal Intergovernmentalism	67
Andrew Moravcsik and Frank Schimmelfennig
Introduction	67
Liberal Intergovernmentalism as Theory	67
National Preferences	69
Substantive Bargains	70
Institutional Choice	72
Theoretical Criticism and Scope Conditions	73
An Easy Case: Agriculture	77
A More Difficult Case: Liberal Intergovernmentalism and Enlargement	80
The European Union Today	83
Conclusion: Avenues for Dialogue and Synthesis	84
Notes	86
Guide to Further Reading	86
Study Questions	87

PART TWO Analysing European Governance

5 Governance Approaches	91
B. Guy Peters and Jon Pierre
Introduction	91

What is Governance?	91
Critiques of Governance	93
Governance at Work in Europe	94
Propositions about European Governance	95
Multilevel Governance	95
Governance is Crucial for Output Legitimization	96
European Governance Remains Undemocratic	97
European Governance is Highly Segmented	97
European Governance is Transforming	98
Changing Governance Styles	99
Changing Policy Issues	100
Changing Policy and European Integration	101
Expansion and Governance	102
Conclusion	102
Guide to Further Reading	104
Study Questions	104
6 Policy Networks	105
John Peterson
Introduction	105
Policy Networks and EU Governance	107
The Origins of Policy Network Analysis	111
The Importance of Policy Networks for Integration	112
Evaluating Policy Network Analysis	113
Critique	114
Application: Policy Network Analysis and Eurojust	117
Policy Network Analysis and Enlargement	119
Challenges and Prospects of Policy Network Analysis	120
The Contribution of Policy Network Analysis	120
The Future Development of Policy Network Analysis	120
Conclusion	122
Notes	122
Guide to Further Reading	124
Study Questions	124
7 The New Institutionalisms and European Integration	125
Mark A. Pollack
Introduction	125
The Origins of Rational Choice and Historical Institutionalism	125
Applications to the Study of the European Union	129
Legislative Politics	129
Executive Politics	131
Judicial Politics and Legal Integration	134
Unintended Consequences, Joint-decision Traps, and Path-dependence	136

The New Institutionalisms and EU Enlargement	138
Conclusion	141
Guide to Further Reading	142
Study Questions	143
8 Social Constructivism and European Integration	144
Thomas Risse
Introduction	144
Social Constructivism as an Approach to European Integration	144
Defining Social Constructivism	145
Agency, Structure, and the Constitutive Effect of Norms	147
Communication and Discourse	149
The Three Contributions of Social Constructivism	151
The Social Construction of European Identity	151
The Contested Nature of European Identity	151
‘Europeanness’ and National Identities	152
Contested Meanings of Europe and the EU	153
The Enlargement Puzzle from a Social Constructivist Perspective	156
Conclusion	158
Notes	159
Guide to Further Reading	159
Study Questions	160

PART THREE Constructing the European Union

9 Discursive Approaches	163
Ole Wæver
Introduction	163
Discourse Analysis in the Study of European Integration	164
The Basic Idea(s)	164
Philosophical Roots	166
When and How Discourse Analysis Entered Political Science, IR, and European Integration Studies	167
Three Approaches in European Integration Discourse Theory	168
Governance and Political Struggle	169
Foreign Policy Explained from Concepts of State, Nation, and Europe	170
The European Project as Productive Paradox	173
Comparing the Three Programmes	176
Enlargement	177
Conclusion	178
Notes	179
Guide to Further Reading	179
Study Questions	180

10	Gender and European Integration	181
	Birgit Locher and Elisabeth Prügl
	Introduction	181
	Gender Approaches and Feminism	182
	Gender Approaches and European Integration	183
	Explaining Gender Equality Policy	184
	The Reproduction of Gender in EU Policies and Practices	186
	'Best Cases': Trafficking and CAP	188
	EU Policies Against Trafficking in Women	188
	The Common Agricultural Policy and Gendered Reform	189
	The Case of Enlargement	191
	Gender Equality in the Negotiation Process	191
	Exporting Hegemonic Masculinity	193
	Conclusion	195
	Notes	196
	Guide to Further Reading	197
	Study Questions	197
11	Normative Theory and the EU: Between Contract and Community	198
	Richard Bellamy with Claudia Attucci
	Introduction	198
	A European Contract?	199
	The Social Contract Tradition	199
	Who Contracts, How and to What? Rawls and the Problems of Contractarian Thinking for the EU	202
	A European Community?	209
	Habermas and the EU as a Post-national Constitutional Federation	210
	The National Limits to the EU	212
	Betwixt and Between the National and the Supranational	214
	Conclusion	217
	Enlargement	218
	Notes	219
	Guide to Further Reading	219
	Study Questions	220
12	Critical Political Economy	221
	Alan W. Cafruny and J. Magnus Ryner
	Introduction	221
	The Disciplinary Split and European Integration Theory	221
	The (Re-)turn to Political Economy	223
	IPE as the Politics of International Economic Relations	224
	A European Variety of Capitalism?	225
	Critical Political Economy	227
	Neo-Marxism	228
	Regulation Theory and the Neo-Gramscians	229
	Economic and Monetary Union	231

Enlargement	234
Conclusion	237
Notes	238
Guide to Further Reading	239
Study Questions	240
13 Taking Stock of Integration Theory	241
Antje Wiener and Thomas Diez
Introduction	241
Comparative Perspective	243
Outlook: Constitutional Roots and External Politics in the Twenty-first Century	247
Conclusion	250
Notes	251
Study Questions	252
REFERENCES	253
INDEX	291