

List of boxes, figures and tables	xi
About the contributors	xiv
Acknowledgments	xvii
List of abbreviations	xviii
1 SECURITY STUDIES: AN INTRODUCTION	1	4	GAME THEORY
Paul D. Williams			Frank C. Zagare
What is security studies? A very short overview			Introduction
Defining a field of inquiry: Four fundamental questions			Primitive concepts
What is security?			Strategic-form games and Nash equilibria
Whose security?			Extensive-form games, backwards induction and subgame perfect equilibria
What is a security issue?			Applications of game theory in security studies
How can security be achieved?			Coda
How to use this book
Part 1 Theoretical Approaches	13	5	CONSTRUCTIVISMS
			Matt McDonald
2 REALISMS	15		Introduction: Constructivism and security
Colin Elman and Michael Jensen			Constructivism: Central tenets and shared assumptions
Introduction			Security as social construction: identity and norms
Classical realism			Negotiation and contestation
Neorealism: Waltz's Theory of International Politics			Agents, structures and change
Defensive structural realism			The Copenhagen School and securitization
Offensive structural realism			Conclusion
Rise and fall realism
Neoclassical realism			6 PEACE STUDIES
Realisms and the rise of China			Peter Lawler
Conclusion			Introduction: What is peace studies?
			Peace Studies: A brief history
3 LIBERALISMS	32		Peace research as science
Cornelia Navari			From peace research to peace studies
Introduction			Key concepts
Traditional or Kantian liberalism			Positive and negative peace
Douce commerce			Structural violence
The democratic peace thesis			Cultural violence
Neoliberal institutionalism			The future of peace studies?
Conclusion

7	CRITICAL THEORY Pinar Bilgin	90	Three logics The security dilemma in the twenty-first century Towards a new agenda for security studies
	Introduction: the need for a critical perspective Rethinking security Critical theory Theory/practice The 'Aberystwyth School' of critical security studies Emancipation Conclusion
8	FEMINISMS Sandra Whitworth	107	11 POLARITY Barry Buzan	155
	Introduction Feminist approaches in international security Women, gender and security: The impacts of armed conflict Women, gender and security: Action and activism Women, gender and security: Talking and making weapons and war Conclusions		The debates about polarity Polarity during the Cold War Polarity after the Cold War The problem with polarity The future of polarity Conclusion: The utility of polarity
9	INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL SOCIOLOGY Didier Bigo	120	12 CULTURE Michael N. Barnett	170
	Introduction Interdisciplinarity, relations and practices An international political sociology of security Episteme Methods Major findings Conclusion		Introduction States behaving badly Culture Cultures in security Strategic culture Peacekeeping cultures Conclusion
			13 WAR Paul D. Williams	187
			Introduction Three philosophies of war The functions of war Trends in armed conflicts since 1945 Who fights? Who dies? Is the nature of warfare changing? The idea of total war The 'new wars' debate The contemporary Western way of war Conclusion
Part 2 Key Concepts		135
10	UNCERTAINTY Ken Booth and Nicholas J. Wheeler	137	14 COERCION Lawrence Freedman and Srinath Raghavan	206
	Introduction The house of uncertainty The quintessential dilemma		Introduction Strategy

28	PRIVATE SECURITY	425
	Deborah D. Avant
	Introduction
	Private security and the control of force
	A transnational market for military and security services
	The current market compared
	Why the current market?
	Conclusion
	Part 4 Contemporary Challenges	439
29	THE INTERNATIONAL ARMS TRADE	441
	William D. Hartung
	Introduction
	Three channels for arms transfers
	Arms sales take off: The 1970s and 1980s
	Post-Cold War dynamics
	Post-9/11 arms exports
	The trade in small arms and light weapons
	Dangers of dual use: The A.Q. Khan network
	Prospects for restraint
	Conclusion
30	COUNTERTERRORISM	457
	Paul R. Pillar
	Introduction
	Basic elements
	Defence
	Going on the offensive
	Law enforcement and military force
	Issues and choices
31	COUNTERINSURGENCY	471
	Joanna Spear
	Introduction: The current discourse on counterinsurgency
	The state of the field
	The problem that counterinsurgency responds to – insurgency
	‘Hearts and minds’
	The role of military force in counterinsurgency
	Learning on the ground
	Counterinsurgency in the media age
	Similarities to post-conflict peacebuilding
	Conclusion
32	THE RESPONSIBILITY TO PROTECT	486
	Alex J. Bellamy
	Introduction
	Sovereignty and responsibility
	R2P and international politics
	R2P in action
	Kenya
	Libya
	Conclusion
33	TRANSNATIONAL ORGANIZED CRIME	503
	Phil Williams
	Introduction
	Organized crime as a security threat
	What is transnational organized crime?
	Globalization, governance and the rise of organized crime
	Transnational criminal organizations
	Illicit markets
	Responses to transnational crime
34	POPULATION MOVEMENTS	520
	Sita Bali
	Introduction
	Population movements as a security issue
	Population movements categorized
	Population movements and violent conflict
	Population movements and foreign policy
	Population movement and internal security
	Conclusion

35	ENERGY SECURITY	535	Cold War nuclear experts
	Michael T. Klare		Realism and liberalism after the
	Introduction		Cold War
	Understanding energy security		Conclusion
	Why now?
	Intimations of global petroleum insufficiency
	A shift in the centre of gravity of world oil production
	Oil facilities as a target of attack
	Addressing energy (in)security
	Part 5 Conclusions	553
36	THE ACADEMIC AND POLICY		37 WHAT FUTURE FOR SECURITY
	WORLDS	555	STUDIES?	568
	James M. Goldgeier		Stuart Croft
	Introduction		Introduction: Context and scope
	What is policy-relevant knowledge?		Locating security studies
			Future directions in the sub-field
			Future directions in the sub-discipline
			Security studies, porous boundaries and the struggle for coherence
			References	581
			Index	621