

Kuei-fen Chiu and Táňa Dluhošová 223-236

Introduction: East Asian and Southeast Asian Literature in the World Literary Space

Articles

Ji Hao 237-259

Bringing the Monkey King to the World:
A Case Study of Arthur Waley's *Monkey

Jinquan Yu and Wenqian Zhang 261-282

From Gaomi to Nobel: The Making of Mo Yan's Fiction as World Literature through English Translation

Brandon K. Liew 283-310

The Unquiet Dreams of Lesser Malaysian Writers: Tradition and the Global Malaysian Novel

Katalin Dalmi 311-337

Japanese Literature in Contemporary Hungary:
Trends in Translation and the Influence of Haruki Murakami

Jordi Serrano-Muñoz 339-363

Canon Breeds Canon: Murakami Haruki, World Literature, and the Hegemonic Representation of Japan in the United States

Michael Ka-chi Cheuk 365-387

Gao Xingjian's Escape from Orientalism

Chienwei Pan 389-411

Drifting in the World Literary Space: Travel and Self-Exile in Leung Ping-Kwan's Poems

Pei-yin Lin

413-427

From Indigenization to the World: Reflections on the Themes and Methodologies in Recent Taiwanese Literary Studies

C. T. Au

429-442

Out of the Ashes: On Hong Kong Literature Studies 2010–2020