

Brief contents

List of figures	xix
Preface to the fifth edition	xxi
Acknowledgements	xxv
About the author	xxvi
A note on terminology	xxvii

Part 1: Thinking about social work theory

1 The social construction of social work theory	3
2 Evaluating social work theory	32
3 Linking practice and theory	67

Part 2: Reviewing social cohesion theories

4 Psychodynamic relational practice	97
5 Psychodynamic attachment practice	131
6 Crisis, trauma and task-centred practice	151
7 Cognitive behavioural practice	175
8 Motivational interviewing	210
9 Systems practice, complexity and chaos	225
10 Macro practice, social development and social pedagogy	251

Part 3: Reviewing empowerment theories

11 Social construction: strengths and solutions	285
12 Social construction: narrative practice	314
13 Humanistic practice, existentialism and spirituality	336
14 Social justice practice, empowerment and advocacy	361

Main points	32
Major statements	33
The main groups of practice theory	33

Part 4: Reviewing social change and development theories

15 Critical practice	399
16 Eco practice	428
17 Feminist practice	449
18 Anti-oppressive, Indigenist and multicultural sensitivity practice	477
Bibliography	508
Author index	548
Subject index	555

1	The social construction of social work theory	1
2	Evaluating social work theory	2
3	Linking practice and theory	3
4	Psychodynamic relational practice	4
5	Psychodynamic attachment practice	5
6	Crisis, trauma and task-centred practice	6
7	Cognitive behavioural practice	7
8	Motivational interviewing	8
9	Systems practice, complexity and chaos	9
10	Macro practice, social development and social pedagogy	10
11	Social construction, strengths and solutions	11
12	Social construction, narrative practice	12
13	Humanistic practice, existentialism and spirituality	13
14	Social justice practice, empowerment and advocacy	14