

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations and Tables .....	xi
Conventions .....	xiii
Preface .....	xv
Contributors .....	xix
Chapter One    Modern East Asia and the Rise of Racial Thought: Possible Links, Unique Features and Unsettled Issues .....	1
Rotem Kowner and Walter Demel
East Asia in the Study of Race and Racism: Importance and Uniqueness .....	8
The Emergence of Race Theories in East Asia: Origins and Causality .....	15
The Spectrum of Reactions to Western Racial Thought .....	22
East Asia, Race and Racism: Regional vs. National Examination .....	33

PART ONE

WESTERN RACE THEORIES, RACIAL IMAGES AND RACISM

Chapter Two    Early Modern European Divisions of Mankind and East Asians, 1500–1750 .....	41
Walter Demel and Rotem Kowner
The Medieval Heritage .....	42
The Transformation of European Outlook on the World around 1500 .....	44
Racial Traits of East Asians: Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century Views .....	46
The Enlightenment and Racial Divisions .....	53

Chapter Three	How the "Mongoloid Race" Came into Being: Late Eighteenth-Century Constructions of East Asians in Europe .....	59
	Walter Demel
	An Asian Race—But Not a "Mongolian" One .....	60
	The Different Editions of Blumenbach's De Generis Humani Varietate Nativa .....	64
	Historiography, Travelogues and Racial Theory .....	68
	The Influence of Blumenbach's Collection of Skulls on the Racial Debate .....	79
	Further Discussions on the "Mongoloid Race" by Meiners and Blumenbach .....	82
Chapter Four	Between Contempt and Fear: Western Racial Constructions of East Asians since 1800 .....	87
	Rotem Kowner
	East Asia's Downfall and the Plunge of Its Racial Position ....	93
	East Asia's Growing Accessibility and the Rise of Anthropology / Scientific Racism .....	101
	The Emergence of Evolutionary Theory and Social Darwinism .....	112
	The Struggle over Asia and the Shift from Race Constructions to Sheer Racism .....	116
Chapter Five	"A Very Great Gulf": Late Victorian British Diplomacy and Race in East Asia .....	127
	T.G. Otte
	"A Sort of Enchanted Forest": Views of Japan .....	130
	"The Most Vile, Filthy Place in the World": Views of China	142
	Conclusion .....	150
Chapter Six	Pan-Mongolians at Twilight: East Asia and Race in Russian Modernism, 1890–1921 .....	153
	Susanna Soojung Lim
	Russia between East and West .....	156
	Microbes from the Depths of Asia: Fyodor Dostoevsky .....	159
	Pan-Mongolians and the Antichrist: Vladimir Solov'ev .....	161
	Positivism Has a Yellow Face: Dmitrii Merezhkovskii .....	166

Japanese Guests in Peter's City: Andrei Belyi's Petersburg ...	168
Towards a New Race of Russians? Scythians and Russian Self-Orientalization .....	173
Chapter Seven National Identity and Race in Post-Revolutionary Russia: Pil'niak's Travelogues from Japan and China .....	177
Alexander Bukh
Russian Racialism and Asia .....	178
Race and the Bolshevik Revolution .....	180
Boris Pil'niak .....	183
Pil'niak's China and Japan .....	185
Conclusion .....	197
Chapter Eight Class, Race, Floating Signifier: American Media Imagine the Chinese, 1870–1900 .....	199
Lenore Metrick-Chen
Part One— The New York Times .....	203
Part Two—Trade Cards .....	212
Conclusion .....	228
Chapter Nine Racism for Beginners: Constructions of Chinese in Twentieth-Century Belgian Comics .....	231
Idesbald Goddeeris
Tintin's Fight with Racism against the Chinese .....	232
The Japanization of China in the Late 1940s .....	236
The Proliferation of Chinese ... Outside China .....	241
Chinese Characters and Types during the Mao Era .....	244
The Great Leap Backward .....	251
The Gradual Opening .....	257
Chapter Ten Race, Imperialism and Reconstructing Selves: Late Nineteenth-Century Korea in European Travel Literature .....	261
Huajeong Seok
Racial Clichés .....	262
Japanese Prism, Imperial Echoes .....	271
Encounters and Reconstructed Selves .....	275

Chapter Eleven Race, Culture and the Reaction to the Japanese Victory of 1905 in the English-Speaking World .....	281
Philip Towle
Occidental Attitudes towards the Outside World .....	282
European Commentaries on Japan .....	290
Conclusion .....	304

PART TWO

EAST ASIAN RACE THEORIES, RACIAL POLICIES AND RACISM

Chapter Twelve A Certain Whiteness of Being: Chinese Perceptions of Self by the Beginning of European Contact .....	309
Don J. Wyatt
Implicit Whiteness .....	310
Whiteness by Contradistinction .....	314
Whiteness Confirmed by Land and Sea .....	315
Explicit Whiteness .....	321
Whiteness First Assumed, Then Contested .....	325
Chapter Thirteen Racial Discourse and Utopian Visions in Nineteenth-Century China .....	327
Sufen Sophia Lai
Types of Hua-Yi Discourse before the Qing Dynasty .....	328
Chinese Literati's Utopian Visions before the Nineteenth Century .....	330
Racial Discourse and Utopian Visions in Jinghua yuan .....	333
Literati's Utopian Impulses after the Opium Wars .....	336
The Transformation of Yi .....	337
Nineteenth-Century Literati Statecraft and the Rise of Racial Discourse .....	340
Chapter Fourteen The Discourse of Race in Twentieth-Century China .....	351
Frank Dikötter
The Background: Early Conceptions of Lineage, Race and Nation .....	353
Republican China .....	359

Contemporary China .....	363
Racial Nationalism .....	366
Conclusion .....	367
Chapter Fifteen Racist South Korea? Diverse but Not Tolerant of Diversity .....	369
Gi-Wook Shin
The Nexus of Korean Ethnic Nationalism and Racism .....	371
Influx of Migrant Labor and Foreign Brides .....	374
Korea's Multicultural Policies .....	377
Globalization and Korean Racism .....	383
The Road to a True Multiculturalism .....	386
Concluding Remarks .....	389
Chapter Sixteen Skin Color Melancholy in Modern Japan: Male Elites' Racial Experiences Abroad, 1880s–1950s .....	391
Ayu Majima
Differentiate to Assimilate: Racial Experiences in the United States .....	393
Pathos of the Glorious “Colored” .....	398
The Unstable Nation to “Harmonize” East and West .....	401
The Eternal Distance .....	403
Conclusion .....	407
Chapter Seventeen Anatomically Speaking: The Kubo Incident and the Paradox of Race in Colonial Korea .....	411
Hoi-eun Kim
Kubo Takeshi and the Physical Anthropology of Koreans ....	414
Doctors of Empires and the Development of Anthropology in Japan .....	416
The Möbius Strip: The Paradox of Race in Colonial Korea ....	422
Conclusion .....	428
Chapter Eighteen Who Classified Whom, and for What Purpose? The “Japanese” in Northeast China in the Age of Empire .....	431
Mariko Asano Tamanoi
A Brief History of Northeast China ( Manchuria ) .....	433
Who Classified Whom? Part 1 .....	435

Who Classified Whom? Part 2 .....	443
Conclusion .....	449
Chapter Nineteen Race and International Law in Japan's New Order in East Asia, 1938–1945 .....	453
Urs Matthias Zachmann
The Traditional Role of Race in Japan's Foreign Relations ...	457
Japan's "New Order" and the Co-Prosperity Sphere .....	459
Race in the "Greater East Asia International Law" Project ...	463
Epilogue and Conclusion .....	471
Chapter Twenty East Asia's "Melting-Pot": Reevaluating Race Relations in Japan's Colonial Empire .....	475
Yukiko Koshiro
Colonial Intermarriage .....	477
Japanese in the Tropics .....	483
Russians in the Japanese Empire .....	488
Epilogue .....	494
Chapter Twenty-One Categorical Confusion: President Obama As a Case Study of Racialized Practices in Contemporary Japan .....	499
Christine R. Yano
Obamamania in Japan .....	501
Complexities of Race Talk, Images and Practices .....	504
Blood Ideology in Japan .....	505
African Americans in Japan .....	508
Japan and "Post-Racial" Possibilities? .....	511
Simian Intimacy .....	516
Concluding Thoughts on Race .....	519
Bibliography .....	523
Index .....	571