

Contents

Preface	ix
1 Setting the context	1
1.1 Free trade theory	1
1.2 Why trade agreements at all?	6
1.3 Multilateral trade agreements, preferential trade agreements, and special status for developing countries	7
1.4 The scope of trade agreements	13
1.5 The contemporary political divide over international trade	16
1.6 Fair trade versus free trade	17
1.7 International trade, labour market impacts, and increasing levels of inequality in developed countries	21
2 Institutional structure of the WTO: treaty-making, decision-making, and dispute settlement	23
2.1 Institutional structure of the WTO	23
2.2 Treaty-making and decision-making	24
2.3 Dispute settlement	25
3 Tariffs and the Most Favoured Nation principle	36
3.1 The economic (welfare) effects of a tariff	36
3.2 International tariff negotiations	37
3.3 Domestic administration of tariffs	38
3.4 The Most Favoured Nation principle	40
3.5 Conclusion	47
4 Preferential trade agreements	48
4.1 Introduction	48
4.2 The legal framework for preferential trade agreements under the GATT	50
4.3 The contested case for preferential trade agreements	53
4.4 Conclusion	57
5 The National Treatment principle	58
5.1 Introduction	58

5.2	The GATT (pre-WTO) case law	59
5.3	WTO (post-1995) case law	61
5.4	Critique of GATT/WTO case law	65
5.5	Government procurement	67
6	Anti-dumping laws	70
6.1	Introduction	70
6.2	GATT/WTO provisions on anti-dumping	71
6.3	Domestic administration of anti-dumping duties	75
6.4	Normative rationales for anti-dumping duties	79
6.5	Reforming anti-dumping duty regimes	82
7	Subsidies and countervailing duties	84
7.1	Introduction	84
7.2	The GATT subsidies regime	85
7.3	The Uruguay Round Subsidies and Countervailing Measures (SCM) Agreement	86
7.4	WTO case law on the interpretation and application of subsidy rules	89
7.5	Normative rationales for disciplines on subsidies	96
8	Safeguards and adjustment assistance policies	100
8.1	Introduction	100
8.2	Substantive requirements of the GATT/WTO safeguards regime	105
8.3	Rationales for safeguard regimes	109
8.4	Alternatives to safeguards	111
8.5	Reforming the safeguards regime	112
9	Trade and agriculture	114
9.1	Introduction	114
9.2	Normative rationales for agricultural exceptionalism	114
9.3	Positive political economy explanations for agricultural exceptionalism	119
9.4	Measures of protectionism in agriculture	121
9.5	Costs of agricultural protectionism	122
9.6	Disciplines on agricultural protectionism in the multilateral trade regime	123
9.7	Conclusion	128
10	Trade in services	131
10.1	Introduction	131
10.2	The General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS)	132
10.3	WTO case law on the GATS	138
10.4	Critiques of the GATS	141
10.5	Alternative service liberalization modalities	142

11	Trade and investment	145
11.1	Introduction	145
11.2	Multilateral regulation of foreign direct investment	148
11.3	Bilateral investment treaties	151
11.4	Conclusion	155
12	Trade-related intellectual property rights	156
12.1	Introduction	156
12.2	The pre-Uruguay Round international legal framework	157
12.3	The Uruguay Round TRIPS Agreement	158
12.4	The essential medicines debate	162
12.5	TRIPS plus protections in preferential trade agreements	166
13	Trade policy and domestic health and safety regulation	168
13.1	Introduction	168
13.2	The GATT framework	169
13.3	The SPS and TBT Agreements	172
13.4	Conclusion	185
14	Trade policy and the environment	186
14.1	Introduction	186
14.2	Overview of GATT/WTO case law	188
14.3	Trade policy and climate change	194
15	Trade policy, labour standards and human rights	198
15.1	Introduction	198
15.2	Rationales for a trade policy–labour standards–human rights linkage	200
15.3	Choice of instrument	202
16	Trade policy and developing countries	206
16.1	Introduction	206
16.2	Special and differential treatment	207
16.3	Special and differential treatment: an assessment	213
16.4	Conclusion	219
17	Future challenges for the world trading system	221
17.1	Governance of the World Trade Organization	221
17.2	Multilateralism versus preferential trade agreements	222
17.3	Developing countries in the world trading system	223
17.4	Trade and other areas of international law	223
17.5	Contingent protection regimes	223
17.6	Trade and agriculture	224
17.7	Trade and policy exchange rates	224
17.8	Trade policy and foreign direct investment	224

17.9	Economic migration	225
17.10	Digital trade	228
17.11	Security exceptions	230
Index		233