

Contents

The CASLIN@15: Some Reflections on One Impressive History and on the Place of Knowledge Technologies in the Future of Higher Education	5
Andrew Lass (Mount Holyoke College, USA)
Transforming Academic Libraries for 21st Century Students UMass Amherst Libraries – a Case Study	8
Jay Schafer (University of Massachusetts, USA)
Enhanced Legal E-ducation: Knowledge Technology at Cornell Law School	18
Sasha Skenderija (Cornell Law Library, Ithaca, USA)
What Drivers Can Be Recognised that Transform Content Usage in Higher Education – a Comparative Study Covering Austria, Germany and Switzerland	19
Arthur Eger (Elsevier B.V.)
New Models of Information Use in the Academic Information Environment	20
Jela Steinerová (Univerzita Komenského, Bratislava, SK)
Diminishing of Public and Private Space as the Consequence of Internet Individualisation	33
Peter Weisenbacher (Univerzita Komenského, Bratislava, SK)
User Revolution	41
Pavel Kocourek (Incad s.r.o., CZ)
Managing Citations and References with Software Tool	42
Linda Skolková (Univerzita Karlova, Praha, CZ)
Google Scholar: Making it Easier to Find and Read Scholarly Literature	53
Christian DiCarlo (Strategic Partner Development Google, Inc.)
Student-centered Learning Pedagogy and Knowledge Technologies	54
Robert Rotenberg (DePaul University, Chicago, USA)
The Future of Libraries and Their Role in Scholarly Communication	58
Martin Svoboda (Státní technická knihovna, Praha, CZ)	