

Contents

Preface		vii
Repressive Population Transfers in Central, Eastern and South-eastern Europe: A Historical Overview	Alfred J. Rieber	1
The Deportation of the Polish Population to the USSR, 1939–41	N.S. Lebedeva	28
The Polish–Czechoslovak Conflict over Teschen: The Problem of Resettling Poles and the Position of the USSR	T.V. Volokitina	46
The Catholic Church and Deportations of Ethnic Germans from the Czech Lands	Emilia Hrabovec	64
The Fate of Hungarian Minorities in Slovakia after the Second World War: Resettlement and Re-Slovakization: Moscow's Position	G.P. Murashko	83
Migration of the Germans after the Second World War: Political and Psychological Aspects	A.F. Noskova	96
'Make the Germans Do It': The Refugee Problem in the American Zone of Post-war Germany	Sylvia Schraut	115
The Integration of Deportees into the Society of the Federal Republic of Germany	Thomas Grosser	125
Refugees and Expellees in the Soviet Zone of Germany: Political and Social Problems of their Integration, 1945–50	Michael Schwartz	148

Ethnography of an Encounter: Reactions to Refugees in Post-war Germany and Russian
Migrants after the Reunification – Context,
Analogies and Changes

Susanne Spülbeck 175

Notes on Contributors

191

Index

193