

Pyramid Fields of Ancient Egypt

● Abu Rawash

A. Ćwiek _____ 16
A necropolis dominated by the pyramid of Djedefra and featuring several Old Kingdom cemeteries and perhaps also the pyramid of Huni.

● Mazghuna

M. Bárta _____ 142
Next to Zawiyet el-Aryan, another poorly explored royal cemetery with the pyramids of Sobeknofru and Amenemhat IV.

● Giza

M. Lehner _____ 24
One of the most impressive necropoleis of the Old Kingdom with dozens of non-royal tombs and with some of the largest pyramids ever built in history – the Fourth Dynasty complexes of Khufu, Khafra and Menkaura.

● Meidum

P. Jánosi _____ 146
This is the cemetery where the history of the Fourth Dynasty begins. It is dominated by a single pyramid, that of Snofru, with a huge cemetery of large mastabas of several members of his family.

● Zawiyet el-Aryan

M. Verner _____ 54
One of the least understood pyramid sites of the Old Kingdom with two poorly explored royal monuments.

● Lisht

D. Arnold – A. Oppenheim _____ 152
This is a site of key importance for the beginning of the Twelfth Dynasty, as it contains the pyramid complexes of Amenemhat I and Senusret I.

● Abu Ghurab

M. Nuzzolo _____ 60
A site north of the Abusir necropolis with so far two discovered sun-temple complexes belonging to Userkaf and Nyuserre of the Fifth Dynasty.

● El-Lahun

P. Jánosi _____ 168
Another Middle Kingdom cemetery with the complex of Senusret II, many largely unexplored cemeteries and a historically unique city.

● Abusir

M. Bárta _____ 70
Principal pyramid necropolis of the Fifth Dynasty with the pyramid complexes of Sahura, Neferirkara, Raneferef and Nyuserre and with several cemeteries, in the south merging with Saqqara.

● Hawara

P. Jánosi _____ 176
One more spectacular site of the Middle Kingdom with the pyramid complex of Amenemhat III and the famous Labyrinth.

● Saqqara

M. Bárta – V. Dulíková – M. Megahed _____ 88
Most important Memphite cemetery of the whole third millennium BC, featuring the first stone-built complex of King Djoser, and many Early Dynastic and Old Kingdom monuments.

● Abydos

J. Wegner _____ 184
This is one of the most famous cemeteries of ancient Egypt since the Predynastic Period which also features the final resting place of Senusret III.

● Dahshur
