

Table of contents

Acknowledgements	VII
Acronyms and Glosses	IX
CHAPTER 1
Introduction: Ecology rolls the dice	1
Enoch O. Aboh & Cécile B. Vigouroux
CHAPTER 2
A sociolinguistic typology for languages in contact	23
William Croft
CHAPTER 3
A local history of Tok Pisin: Language contact in Papua New Guinea	57
Gillian Sankoff
CHAPTER 4
Conventionalised creativity in the emergence of a mixed language – A case study of Light Warlpiri	81
Carmel O'Shannessy
CHAPTER 5
Acquisition or shift: Interpreting variation in Gurindji children's expression of spatial relations	105
Vivien Dunn, Felicity Meakins and Cassandra Algy
CHAPTER 6
Substrate influence in Northern Quechua languages	133
Pieter Muysken[†]
CHAPTER 7
Coordination in the Suriname Creoles: Comparing Nenge(e) and Matawai	161
Bettina Migge
CHAPTER 8
Reflections on Darwin's natural selection: A lens on variation, competition and change	191
Marlyse Baptista

CHAPTER 9

Building grammar in the early stages of development of French Creoles: Insights from Second Language Acquisition 211
Georges Daniel Véronique

CHAPTER 10

Foundings and futures: How to live like a Peranakan in the post-digital ecology 243
Lisa Lim & Umberto Ansaldo

CHAPTER 11

Detecting loan words computationally 269
Liqin Zhang, Franz Manni, Ray Fabri & John Nerbonne

CHAPTER 12

Learnability and ecological factors as motivators of language change 289
Nour Efrat-Kowalsky

CHAPTER 13

The restructuring of Salikoko Mufwene through competition and selection: A conversation between Salikoko Mufwene and Michel DeGraff 307
Michel DeGraff

Language Index 327

Subject Index 329