

Contents

List of contributors	xi
Preface	xiii
1 Tourism and postcolonialism: an introduction	1
C. MICHAEL HALL AND HAZEL TUCKER
Positioning postcolonialism	3
Hegemony	4
Language, text and representation	6
Place, displacement and identity	12
Postcoloniality and theory	15
References	18
2 Tourism and new sense: worldmaking and the enunciative value of tourism	25
KEITH HOLLINSHEAD
Introduction: the declarative value of tourism	25
Theorising the declarative value of tourism: five thinkers	26
Recap: recent research on the declarative value of tourism	29
Tourism and postcolonial worlds	30
New sense in the postcolonial world: tourism, Bhabha and enunciation	33
Prospect: Bhabha and the worldmaking function of tourism	37
Acknowledgements	40
References	40
3 Saying the same old things: a contemporary travel discourse and the popular magazine text	43
BEVERLEY ANN SIMMONS
Introduction	43
A contemporary travel discourse in travelogues	45
A colonial discourse as travel fantasy	48
How travel tensions are resolved	51

Domesticity or exploration and conquest? 52
Mediators and the reordering of power 53
Conclusion 54
References 55

4 Cultural tourism in postcolonial environments:
negotiating histories, ethnicities and authenticities in St Vincent, Eastern Caribbean 57

DAVID TIMOTHY DUVAL

Introduction 57
Ethnicity and tradition 59
Ethnicity, cultural tradition and tourism: some linkages 61
The Carib of St Vincent – constructing histories and ethnicities 62
The ethnohistory of the Carib 66
Assessment and conclusion 70
Acknowledgements 72
References 72

5 About romance and reality: popular European imagery in postcolonial tourism in southern Africa 76

HARRY WELS

Introduction 76
African landscapes and African Others in European imagery 77
Africa(ns) on stage in Europe 82
Primitive art 84
The Bushmen of southern Africa: from exhibition on stage to exhibition on location 87
Moving the stage from Europe to Africa in the European quest for authenticity 90
Acknowledgements 91
References 91

6 Commodifying heritage: post-apartheid monuments and cultural tourism in South Africa 95

SABINE MARSCHALL

Introduction 95
Fascination with heritage 96
Heritage, postcolonialism and tourism 97
What kind of heritage attracts tourists? 99
Visual appearance 101
Focus on content 102
Incomplete monuments 103
Challenges in commodifying heritage 104

- Nelson Mandela as tourist attraction* 106
Commodification of Zulu heritage 108
Conclusion 109
References 110
- 7 Tourism and British colonial heritage in Malaysia and Singapore 113
 JOAN C. HENDERSON
Introduction 113
The colonial legacy in Malaysia and Singapore 114
Conserving colonial heritage 116
Colonial heritage as a tourist attraction 119
Conclusion 122
References 122
- 8 A colonial town for neocolonial tourism 126
 DAVID FISHER
Introduction 126
Levuka: a colonial town 128
Heritage in Levuka 129
Building preservation 129
The purpose of buildings 132
Conclusion 135
References 137
- 9 Neocolonialism, dependency and external control of Africa's tourism industry: a case study of wildlife safari tourism in Kenya 140
 JOHN S. AKAMA
Introduction 140
Historical background: colonialism and the era of big-game hunting 141
The creation of wildlife parks 143
External control and postcolonial tourism 145
The creation of tourism image 146
Exclusion of local people from tourism 149
Conclusion 150
References 151
- 10 Postcolonial conflict inherent in the involvement of cultural tourism in creating new national myths in Hong Kong 153
 HILARY DU CROS
Introduction 153
National myths and loaded symbols 154

The treatment of culture and heritage in Hong Kong 155
Marketing Hong Kong as a cultural tourism destination 159
Heritage tours 160
Heritage trails 162
Further conflicts over new marketing proposals 163
Decommissioning colonial symbols for successful use in tourism marketing 164
New purpose-built East/West fusion attractions 165
Conclusion 166
References 167

11 Globalisation and neocolonialist tourism 169

REINER JAAKSON

Introduction 169
A polarised world of rich and poor 170
Globalisation 171
Evolution of neocolonialist tourism 173
Contrast and disappearing difference 175
Fear, risk and uncertainty 176
Conclusion 179
References 180

12 Conclusion 184

HAZEL TUCKER AND C. MICHAEL HALL

Tourism relationships as an echo of colonial relationships 185
Tourism scholarship as echo of colonial/postcolonial discourse 187
References 189

Index 191