

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Introduction to Human Dignity and Democracy in Europe Daniel Bedford and Catherine Dupré	1
PART I THEORETICAL FRAMEWORKS
1 Judicial activity/democratic activity: the democratising effects of dignity Erin Daly	19
2 Human dignity and democracy in Europe: commitments, connections and red lines Catherine Dupré	36
3 Subsidiarity and human dignity: democracy, authority and knowledge Stephen Riley	60
4 Democratic transformations in the United Kingdom: the potential of human dignity Daniel Bedford	77
PART II IDENTITY
5 On the dilemma between human dignity and national identity Cesare Pinelli	103
6 Human dignity as status politics Stéphanie Hennette-Vauchez	119
7 The right to citizenship and human dignity Maria Dicosola	137

8	Discourses of collective dignity, the state of exception and the twilight of the rule of law: the case of Poland and beyond Przemyslaw Tacik	155
PART III SOLIDARITY
9	The decline of human dignity and solidarity through the misuse of constitutional identity: the case of Hungary since 2010 Gábor Halmai and Nóra Chronowski	177
10	Bringing human dignity back to life: the case of austerity measures in a comparative perspective Antonia Baraggia	200
11	Dignity at the margins: the contestatory dynamic of the principle of human dignity Colm Ó Cinnéide	225
	Conclusion: human dignity and the future of European democracy Gábor Halmai and Panos Kapotas	248
	Index	261