

CONTENTS

Preface .....	xi
Introduction .....	1
1. Prolegomena to a prehistory of Christian preaching .....	3
1.1. The external evidence for Christian preaching before Origen .....	6
1.1.1. Preaching at Corinth .....	7
1.1.2. Preaching and prophecy in Acts .....	11
1.1.3. Developments in preaching and the church in the first century .....	14
1.1.4. Developments in preaching and the church in the second century .....	17
1.1.5. A conclusion concerning the beginning of preaching .....	22
1.2. The search for formal criteria .....	23
1.2.1. A brief Forschungsgeschichte .....	24
1.2.1.1. Reicke's form-criticism .....	24
1.2.1.2. McDonald's understanding of preaching as paraklēsis .....	27
1.2.1.3. Siegert's functional model of early Christian communication .....	29
1.2.1.4. Wills, and other recent form-critics .....	31
1.2.2. An impasse and a possible way out .....	39
1.2.3. Synagogue preaching as a possible background to early Christian practice .....	39
1.2.3.1. The proem form .....	40
1.2.3.2. Other homiletic forms in early Judaism .....	52
1.2.3.3. Jewish Scriptures and Christian preaching .....	57
1.2.4. Models of preaching in the wider Hellenistic world .....	58
1.2.4.1. The diatribe .....	58
1.2.4.2. Protreptic .....	68
1.2.4.3. The influence of epideictic displays .....	72

1.2.4.4.	Philosophical table-talk .....	75
1.2.4.5.	“Preaching” in the Hellenistic world .....	77
1.2.5.	Formal models for preaching available to Christians .....	78
1.3.	A conclusion and a restatement of a hypothesis .....	79
2.	Preaching in the primitive church .....	88
2.1.	The homily in a household setting .....	91
2.1.1.	Pauline prophecy as domestic preaching .....	91
2.1.2.	Hermas’ revelation reports as domestic preaching .....	105
2.1.3.	The prophecy of John of Patmos as domestic and synagogal preaching .....	117
2.1.4.	The survival of domestic prophetic ὁμιλία .....	131
2.1.5.	Preaching and the synagogalizing community of I Peter .....	133
2.1.6.	Preaching in the household .....	139
2.2.	Preaching in scholasticized communities .....	140
2.2.1.	Christian synagogal preaching in Luke-Acts .....	140
2.2.2.	Paraenesis and preaching .....	147
2.2.2.1.	The Epistle of James as synagogue homily? .....	147
2.2.2.2.	Hebrews as a λόγος παρακλήσεως .....	158
2.2.2.3.	Paraenetic preaching in the Pastoral Epistles .....	170
2.2.2.4.	II Clement a homily? .....	174
2.2.2.5.	Paraenesis, preaching and prophecy .....	187
2.2.3.	Preaching in the Christian schools of Asia .....	190
2.2.3.1.	Prophecy, exegesis and preaching in the Johannine school .....	191
2.2.3.2.	Papias ἐξεγήσεις of the Lord’s λόγια as preaching .....	205
2.2.3.3.	The prophetic communication of Epistula apostolorum .....	214
2.2.3.4.	Melito’s Peri Pascha as preaching? .....	221
2.2.3.5.	In Sanctum Pascha as encomiastic homily .....	228

2.2.3.6. The prophecy of the Montanists as Christian communication outside the mainstream .....	232
2.2.3.7. Schools, Scripture and the disappearance of prophecy in Asia ....	238
2.2.4. Scholastic preachers in Rome .....	239
2.2.4.1. Preaching in the school of Justin .....	241
2.2.4.2. Preaching in the school of Valentinus .....	244
2.2.4.3. Preaching in the school of Hippolytus .....	249
2.2.4.4. Peter's sermon in Acta Petri as typical preaching in scholasticized households .....	257
2.2.4.5. Scholasticization in Rome .....	259
2.2.5. Preaching and prophecy in Tertullian's Africa .....	260
2.2.6. The Alexandrian school tradition .....	265
2.2.7. The triumph of the school .....	269
3. Some conclusions .....	270
3.1. An underpinning hypothesis, from prophecy to preaching .....	270
3.2. Smyrna as exemplum .....	276
3.3. From homilia as converse to homilia as discourse .....	279
Bibliography .....	281
Index .....	297

The Vicarage, Sturminster Marshall
 Church, King and Martyr, 2001