

Contents

List of Tables	viii
List of Maps	ix
Preface	x
Note on Sources	xi
Acknowledgements	xii
Abbreviations	xiii
PART ONE: Introduction	1
1. The Imperialist Dynamic: From World War I to Decolonisation	3
PART TWO: The Gentlemanly Order	9
2. 'The Power of Constant Renewal': Services, Finance and the Gentlemanly Elite, 1914-39	11
Manufacturing, services and the south-east	11
Finance and industry after 1914	14
Wealth and power between the wars	20
3. Industry, the City and the Decline of the International Economy, 1914-39	31
Commodity trade	32
The City and invisibles	40
4. Upholding Gentlemanly Values: The American Challenge, 1914-31	49
Industry, the state and war, 1914-21	49
The impact of the United States	58

British Imperialism: Crisis and Deconstruction 1914–1990

The return to gold	63
The financial crisis, 1929–31	72
5. 'A Latter-Day Expression of Financial Imperialism': The Origins of the Sterling Area, 1931–9	76
Financial crisis and economic orthodoxy	76
Financial imperialism without gold	83
The coming of the Pax Americana	93
PART THREE: The Wider World	107
6. Maintaining Financial Discipline: The Dominions, 1914–39	109
The Australian debt crisis	112
Disciplining the Afrikaner	126
New Zealand breaks the shackles	134
Canada and sterling	138
Imperial preference and British finance	144
7. 'A New Era of Colonial Ambitions': South America, 1914–39	146
A continental perspective	147
Argentina	154
Brazil	161
Chile	168
Debt-collecting and control in South America	169
8. 'Financial Stability and Good Government': India, 1914–47	171
Patterns of trade and investment	174
The gentlemen of the Raj	177
The impact of World War I	180
The attempt to return to normality: the 1920s	183
Economic crisis and political advance: the 1930s	188
War, finance and independence	194
Holding India to the Empire	197
9. 'Playing the Game' in Tropical Africa, 1914–40	201
Trade, finance and economic policy: an overview	203
Trusteeship and the trustees	208
World War I in tropical Africa	211
Development and control in the 1920s	214
Imposing and reappraising orthodoxy: the 1930s	223
Colonial rule with limited supplies of capital	232

10. 'The Only Great Undeveloped Market in the World': China, 1911-49	235
Trade and finance: an overview	237
Strategy and strategists	239
Revolution, war and war-lords, 1911-18	242
Maintaining British influence: the 1920s	244
Forging a new partnership: the 1930s	251
Towards 1949	259
Safeguarding British interests in an age of revolution	260

PART FOUR: Aftermath – Losing an Empire and Finding a Role 263

11. The City, the Sterling Area and Decolonisation	265
The survival of the gentlemanly order	266
International economic policy, 1939-55	269
The empire in war and reconstruction	275
The Sterling Area: the final phase, 1955-72	281
Global economic change and the end of empire	285
Epilogue: the City in the post-imperial world	291
12. Conclusion	297
Bases of the analysis	297
The historical argument	300
The wider context	310
Maps	317
Index	326