

Table of Contents

About the Authors	vii
Preface	xxi
Acknowledgements	xxv
PART I
Mediation in the Perspective of Law and Social Change
Martina Urbanová & Miloš Večeřa	1
Introduction to the Topic	1
CHAPTER 1
Law, Society and Mediation
Martina Urbanová & Miloš Večeřa	5
§1.01 Mediation as Part of the Legal System	5
§1.02 Law as a Social Phenomenon and an Institution of Society	7
§1.03 Sociocultural System and Law	9
§1.04 Functions and Role of Law in Society, Law as an Instrument of Social Control	12
[A] Functions of Law in Society	12
[B] Mediation as an Instrument of Social Control	13
§1.05 Law as a Symbol of Justice, Trust in Law as a Basis for Trust in Mediation	15
[A] Justice and the Legitimacy of Law	15
[B] Trust in Law	17
[1] Trust as a Basis for Social Coexistence	17
[2] Trust in Law	19
[3] Trust in Law in Empirical Studies	20
§1.06 Transformations of Law in Modern and Late Modern Society, the Process of Globalisation and Europeanisation	25

Table of Contents

§1.07	Partial Conclusion	31
CHAPTER 2
Mediation Through the Lens of Social Change
Martina Urbanová & Miloš Večeřa
§2.01	Law as a Means of Regulating Social Relations and Mediation	33
§2.02	Mediation, Law and Social Change	34
§2.03	Mediation and Effectiveness of Law as a Tool for Social Change	38
§2.04	Limits of Law in Achieving Social Change	44
§2.05	Partial Conclusion	46
PART II
An Analysis of Selected Cultural, Social and Legal Sources of Mediation
Introduction
Lenka Holá
Introduction to the Topic
49
CHAPTER 3
Cultural Sources for Introduction of Mediation: Changes in Shared Identity
Lenka Holá
§3.01	Cultural Aspects of Conflict Resolution	55
§3.02	Cultural Sources for Introduction of Mediation	55
	[A] Power Distance	59
	[B] Uncertainty Avoidance	60
	[C] Individualism	60
	[D] Masculinity	61
	[E] Long-Term Orientation	61
§3.03	Cultural Integration of Europe as a Starting Point for EU Mediation Efforts	62
	[A] The Value Paradigm of European Cultural Integration	63
	[B] The European Cultural System: Transformations of a Common Identity	64
§3.04	Value Sources of Mediation with Emphasis on Cultural Values	66
§3.05	Partial Conclusion	68
CHAPTER 4
Social Sources for Introduction of Mediation: Empowerment as Acceptance of Responsibility
Lenka Holá
§4.01	Amicable Procedures as a Support for Social Functioning	71
	[A] Person in a Situation	72
	[B] Life Situation and Support for Social Functioning	74
§4.02	Mediation as Mutual Participation and Empowerment	76

§4.03	Value Sources for Mediation with Emphasis on Social-Psychological Values	79
§4.04	Functions of Values in Mediation	80
	[A] Motivational Function	80
	[B] Emotional Function	81
	[C] Moral Function	81
	[D] Cognitive Function	82
	[E] Social Function	82
§4.05	Partial Conclusion	84
CHAPTER 5
Legal Sources of Mediation: Justice, Decency and Satisfaction
	Lenka Holá	85
§5.01	Legal-Theoretical Sources of Mediation	86
§5.02	Justice as a Value in Law and Mediation	88
	[A] Justice as a Central Value of Law	88
	[B] Mediation Through the Lens of Justice	89
§5.03	Mediation to Improve Citizens' Access to Justice	95
	[A] A Short Historical Excursus	95
	[B] European Efforts to Find New Forms of Justice	96
§5.04	Social and Restorative Justice: A Different View of the Same Thing	98
§5.05	Partial Conclusion	101
PART III
Systems of Approach to Mediation in the EU
	Jan Holas	103
	Introduction to the Topic	103
CHAPTER 6
Development and Forms of Systems of Approach to Mediation in the EU
	Jan Holas	105
§6.01	The Beginnings of Mediation and Its Modern Incarnation	106
§6.02	The EU as a Driver in the Field of Modern Mediation	107
§6.03	EU Directive and Member States' Responses	108
§6.04	Forms of Systems of Approach to Mediation	109
§6.05	Coercion-Based Models	111
	[A] Mandatory Mediation Model	113
	[1] General Obligation to Initiate Mediation	114
	[2] Individual Obligation to Initiate Mediation	116
	[B] Informational Meeting with Mediator Required	117
	[1] General Obligation to Attend an Informational Meeting with Mediator	117
	[2] Individual Obligation to Attend an Informational Meeting with Mediator	118
	[C] Voluntary Model	118

Table of Contents

§6.06	Motivation-Based Models	119
	[A] Positive Motivation Tools	119
	[B] Negative Motivation Tools	119
§6.07	Models Based on the Provision of Information on Mediation	120
§6.08	Partial Conclusion	121
CHAPTER 7
Limitation of Coercion to Use Mediation in the EU
Jan Holas
		123
§7.01	Principles of Mediation (Principle of Voluntariness)	125
§7.02	Guaranteed Fundamental Rights (Right to Access to Court)	129
	[A] Right of Access to Justice Versus Right of Access to Court	130
	[B] Coercion Towards Mediation as a Limit to the Right of Access to Court	132
	[1] Selected Cases in European Countries	132
	[a] England	132
	[b] Italy	134
	[c] Romania	134
	[d] Summary	135
	[2] Supranational Level	135
§7.03	Principles of Civil Procedure	140
	[A] The Disposition Principle and the Ex Officio Procedure of the Court	141
	[B] The Principle of Preference of an Amicable Dispute Settlement	143
	[C] The Principle of Procedural Economy	144
§7.04	Partial Conclusion	145
PART IV
A Spatiotemporal Analysis of the Rate of Mediation Use in Individual EU Countries
David Fiedor & Lenka Holá
		147
Introduction to the Topic
		147
CHAPTER 8
Rates of Mediation Use in Individual EU Countries
David Fiedor & Lenka Holá
		151
§8.01	Data and Methods	151
§8.02	Civil Agenda	153
§8.03	Family Agenda	159
§8.04	Criminal Agenda	162
§8.05	Partial Conclusion	164

CHAPTER 9

The Rate of Mediation Use by Courts of First Instance in the Visegrad
Four Countries

David Fiedor & Lenka Holá	167
§9.01 Post-socialist Countries and Their Transition to Democracy	168
[A] Democratisation in Central Europe: Between Socialism and Post-socialism	168
[B] Post-socialism: A New Type of Social Change	169
§9.02 Mediation in Post-socialist Countries	170
§9.03 Data and Methods	172
§9.04 Visegrad Four (V4) Countries	174
§9.05 The Czech Republic	179
§9.06 Slovakia	182
§9.07 Poland	186
§9.08 Hungary	189
§9.09 Partial Conclusion	190

PART V

Prospects for the Development of Mediation in the EU

Jan Holas, David Fiedor & Lenka Holá	193
---	-----

CHAPTER 10

Prospects for the Development of Mediation in the EU

Jan Holas, David Fiedor & Lenka Holá	195
§10.01 Success Rate of Mediation	196
§10.02 State of Use and Success Rates of Mediation in Selected EU Countries	199
[A] Differences in Systems of Approach to Mediation in the Member States	200
[B] Low Rate of Mediation Use	200
§10.03 Prospects of the Functioning of Mediation in the EU	202

Summary	207
---------	-----

Index	211
-------	-----