

Contents

Preface	8	13 1510–1520
Introduction	10	The Workshop and the “School”	386
Looking Back, Looking Forward	12	Raphael and His Team 1512–20	388
New Technologies and Theories of Art	14	Michelangelo’s Sculptures for the
The Sixteenth Century: Artistic Modernity		Julius Tomb	409
and the Idea of Progress	15	The Florentine “Schools”	412
The Book and Its Structure	16	Titian and the Camerino of Alfonso d’Este	418
11 1490–1500		14 1520–1530
The Allure of the Secular	298	The Loss of the Center	424
From the Margins to the Center	300	The Sala di Costantino	427
The Studiolo of Isabella d’Este and		Rome after Raphael: Making a Reputation	430
Mythological Painting	301	Florence	435
Corporate Devotion	305	Lombardy and Venice	440
The World Ends	309	The Sack of Rome in 1527	449
Judgment Day in Orvieto, “Last Things”		15 1530–1540
in Bologna	319	Dynasty and Myth	452
Leonardo in Sforza Milan	326	The Della Rovere in Urbino	455
Michelangelo: Early Works in Marble	336	The Gonzaga in Mantua	457
12 1500–1510		The Medici in Florence	463
Human Nature	340	Andrea Doria in Genoa	470
The Heroic Body and Its Alternatives	342	Rome under the Farnese	474
Leonardo and Michelangelo in Florence	345
Raphael’s Beginnings	354
Rome: A New Architectural Language	358
The Sistine Ceiling	362
The Vatican Palace	370
Venice	377

16 1540–1550

Literate Art 480

- The Painting of History 482
 Michelangelo's Gift Drawings and the Pietà 488
 The Rise of Vernacular Art Theory 491
 Italians Abroad: Fontainebleau 493
 The City Square 495
 Painting without Poetry 505

17 1550–1560

Disegno/Colore 512

- Titian and Rome 514
 Design and Production: Florence and Rome 520
 Interpreting Michelangelo 527
 Out of Italy 531

18 1560–1570

Decorum, Order, and Reform 542

- Alessandro Moretto and Giovanni Moroni:
 Reform Tendencies on the Eve of Trent 544
 Michelangelo's Last Judgment,
 Twenty Years Later 545
 The Jesuits and the Reform of Church
 Architecture 549
 Princes of the Church and Their Villas 551
 Villas in the Veneto: Andrea Palladio 558
 The "Sacro Bosco" at Bomarzo 561
 Bologna, Florence, and Rome in the Time of Pius IV and Pius V 564
 The Arts in Transition 572

19 1570–1580

Art, the People, and the Counter-Reformation Church 574

- Two Reforming Archbishops 576
 Venice in the 1570s 581
 Three Confraternities 585
 Architecture and Urbanism in Counter-Reformation Rome 595
 The Image of the People 599

20 1580–1590		Italian Renaissance Materials and Techniques	656
A Sense of Place	604	Chronology of Rome 1400–1600: Key Centers	666
Gardens and Grottos	606	Glossary	670
The Bolognese New Wave	610	Bibliographical Notes and Suggestions for Further Reading	675
The “Holy Mountain” at Varallo	616	Sources of Quotations	690
Mapping Rome	617	Picture Credits	693
Urbanism in Rome under Sixtus V	621	Index	694
The Place of Giambologna’s Abduction of the Sabine	626
21 1590–1600
The Persistence of Art	628
Church Humanism, Church Archaeology	630
A New Geography	632
Galleries and Collectable Art	640
Three Paths, c. 1600	642
After 1600	655		