

Contents

Preface	8	3	1410–1420
Introduction	10		Commissioning Art: Standardization, Customization, Emulation	82
Looking Back, Looking Forward	12		Orsanmichele and Its Tabernacles	84
New Technologies and Theories of Art	13		Customizing the Altarpiece: The Coronation of the Virgin	94
1300 to 1510	15		Filippo Brunelleschi and the Foundling Hospital	99
The Book and Its Structure	16
1 1300–1400		4	1420–1430
The Trecento Inheritance	18		Perspective and Its Discontents	100
Political Geography and the Arts	20		The Centrality of Florence	102
The Pisano Family:			Lorenzo Ghiberti and Brunelleschi at the Baptistery	105
The New Architectural Sculpture	23		Perspective and Narrative	110
Giotto: The Painter and the Legend	26		The Brunelleschian Model and Its Alternatives	116
Devotional Imagery: Siena	34
Art and the State	43	5	1430–1440
Art and Devotion after Giotto	50		Practice and Theory	120
			Painting Panels and Frescoes	122
2 1400–1410			The Centrality of Disegno	125
The Cathedral and the City	60		Inventing Antiquity	135
Campanilism	62		Jacopo Bellini and the Transformation of the Modelbook	138
The Cathedrals of Florence and Milan	65
Competition at Florence Cathedral	67
Marble Sculpture for the Cathedral:
Nanni di Banco and Donatello	76
Jacopo della Quercia and the Fonte Gaia	79

6	1440–1450
	Palace and Church	142
	The Sacred and the Profane	144
	San Marco	146
	The Florentine Altarpiece after 1440	152
	Andrea del Castagno and the Convent of Sant'Apollonia	157
	The all'antica Tomb	158
	The Private Palace	160
	Civic Patronage and the Church:
	Venice and Padua	171
	Siena: Civic and Sacred Space	177
	Palermo: from Palace to Hospital	182
	The Vatican Papacy and the Embellishment of St. Peter's	185
7	1450–1460
	Rome and Other Romes	188
	The Model City	190
	The Courts of Naples and Rimini	197
	Padua	205
	Pius II: Rome and Pienza	208
	Alberti on Architecture	213
8	1460–1470
	Courtly Values	216
	What Is Court Art?	218
	Ferrara and the Court of Borso d'Este	218
	The Sforza Court in Milan	226
	Mantegna, Alberti, and the Gonzaga Court	233
	Urbino: The Palace of Federico da Montefeltro	237
	Courtly Values in Cities without Courts	239
9	1470–1480
	What Is Naturalism?	246
	The Flemish Manner	248
	Oil Painting	253
	Life Study	258
	Leonardo da Vinci's Beginnings	261
	Nature and the Classical Past	266
	Beauties beyond Nature	268
10	1480–1490
	Migration and Mobility	270
	Portable Art	272
	Artists on the Move	278
	Florentine Bronze Sculptors in Venice and Rome	285
	Florentine Painters in Rome: The Sistine Chapel Frescoes	289
	Leonardo Goes to Milan	294

11 1490–1500		Italian Renaissance Materials and Techniques	656
The Allure of the Secular	298	Chronology of Rule 1400–1600: Key Centers	666
From the Margins to the Center	300	Glossary	670
The Studiolo of Isabella d'Este and Mythological Painting	301	Bibliographical Notes and Suggestions for Further Reading	675
Corporate Devotion	305	Sources of Quotations	690
The World Ends	309	Picture Credits	693
Judgment Day in Orvieto, "Last Things" in Bologna	319	Index	694
Leonardo in Sforza Milan	326
Michelangelo: Early Works in Marble	336
12 1500–1510
Human Nature	340
The Heroic Body and Its Alternatives	342
Leonardo and Michelangelo in Florence	345
Raphael's Beginnings	354
Rome: A New Architectural Language	358
The Sistine Ceiling	362
The Vatican Palace	370
Venice	377		