

Contents

A Note on Israel Zinberg / xi

Acknowledgments / xiii

Transliteration of Hebrew Terms / xv

Abbreviations / xvii

PART IV: THE STRUGGLE OF MYSTICISM AND TRADITION AGAINST PHILOSOPHICAL RATIONALISM

BOOK ONE

Chapter One: THE MYSTICS OF PROVENCE / 3

Two views of the world—The rationalist God concept and religious enthusiasm—Peacemakers and compromisers—Shemtov ben Joseph Falaquera and his Iggeret Ha-Vikkuah—His didactic narrative Ha-Mevakkeh—The unsatisfied “seekers”—Isaac Ibn Latif—The ways leading to mysticism—The source of the mystical tendencies—The doctrine of “emanations” and sefirot—The “fathers” of the Kabbalah in Provence—Isaac the Blind and the Midrash Ha-Bahir—Azriel and his Perush Eser Sefirot—The incomprehensible Ayin and its emanations—The Kabbalist Isaac ben Jacob Ha-Kohen and his Maamar Al Ha-Atzilut Ha-Semolit—The “left sefirot” and the ten classes of warfare and wickedness—The protest against rationalism—Jacob bar Sheshet’s Shaar Ha-Shamayim

Chapter Two: NAHMANIDES AND HIS FOLLOWERS / 21

The Kabbalist school of Gerona—Nahmanides as Talmudist—Nahmanides and Maimonides—Nahmanides’ optimism; the world

Contents

as miracle—Nahmanides as religious poet, Kabbalist, and Bible exegete—Nahmanides' disputation with Pablo Christiani and his move to Palestine—Abraham Abulafia as a person and as a "seeker"—The "mystery of the letters"—The substitution of the name for the thing—The confusion of being and thinking—Abulafia's dreams concerning the advent of the Messiah—His disciples—Joseph Gikatilla—Abulafia's propaganda in Rome—His "prophetic" books and their style—Ink and blood—The mystic against the rabbis—The "revelation" of the Zohar

Chapter Three: THE ZOHAR / 41

Moses de Leon and the Zohar—The various elements of the Zohar—The Zohar and Jewish mysticism—The doctrine of the Ein Sof—The ten sefirot and the "contraction" of the Ein Sof—Androgyny in Jewish mysticism—The unity of thinking and being—The ethical element in the Kabbalah—The role of the person in the Zohar—The concept of the "high man" (Adam Ilaah)—The correspondence between the upper and lower worlds—"The tzaddik is the foundation of the world"—The mysteries hidden in the prayers—The doctrine of the soul—The creatures and their prototypes—The Temple of Love

Chapter Four: THE RENEWAL OF THE STRUGGLE AGAINST RATIONALISM / 55

The Zohar on the rabbis and philosophers—Platonism and Aristotelianism—The distinction between allegories and symbols—The antagonism of the Kabbalists toward Aristotelian rationalism—The beginning of the struggle—Solomon Petit—The Jewish court aristocracy as champions of rationalism—The "philosophizing" preachers—Levi ben Abraham of Villefranche and his astrological views—The "decree" of heaven as pretext for apostasy—The appearance of Abba Mari of Montpellier; his letter to Rabbi Solomon ben Adret—Rabbi Solomon ben Adret's attitude toward philosophy—Abba Mari's Minhat Kenaot—Rabbi Solomon ben Adret and Levi of Villefranche—The ban of the rabbis of Barcelona—Jacob ben Machir and the followers of the Tibbons—The bitter struggle

Chapter Five: RABBI MEIR OF ROTHENBURG, RABBI ASHER BEN YEHIEL, AND RABBI SOLOMON BEN ADRET / 79

The tragic situation of the Jews in Germany—The Rindfleisch massacres—Rabbi Meir of Rothenburg as Talmudist and religious

Contents

poet—Rabbi Isaac ben Moses and his Or Zarua—Rabbi Asher ben Yehiel—His “Testament”—His flight to Provence—Rabbi Asher ben Yehiel and Rabbi Solomon ben Adret—The ban of Rabbi Solomon ben Adret—The rationalists and their Aderabah—The struggle centered around Maimonides—The champions of freedom of thought—Menaḥem Meiri as a man and as a scholar—Yedaiah Ha-Penini and his Ketav Ha-Hitnatzlut—The bitter end—The Provençal communities in exile—Joseph ben Solomon Ibn Yahya and his elegy—Yedaiah Ha-Penini as poet; his Behinat Olam

Chapter Six: ISAAC ALBALAG AND THE DOCTRINE OF THE “DOUBLE TRUTH” / 99

Isaac Albalag and his Tikkun Deot Ha-Pilosofim—Albalag as a thinker—Albalag’s views on the creation of the world and the divine will—The “natural order” and the “Torah order”—Belief and persuasion—The idea of the “double truth” in Christian theology and in Albalag—Albalag as a personality

Chapter Seven: ISAAC IBN PULGAR AND JOSEPH IBN KASPI / 109

The apostate Abner of Burgos and his essay denying free will—Ibn Pulgar and his Ezer Ha-Dat—On five types of opponents—Two “classes” among the Jews—Joseph Ibn Kaspi and his attitude toward Maimonides—His Sefer Ha-Sod and the polemic against it—Ibn Kaspi as “truth-seeker,” litterateur, and Bible exegete—His “Testament”

Chapter Eight: MOSES NARBONI AND GERSONIDES / 125

Perpignan as a center of free thought—Moses Narboni as a free-thinker—His commentary to Maimonides’ Guide for the Perplexed—Gersonides the encyclopedic scholar—Gersonides as an Aristotelian—Differences of opinion between Gersonides and Aristotle—Gersonides’ views on immortality—Gersonides as rationalist and as Bible exegete

BOOK TWO: 1348–1492

Chapter One: THE CULTURAL DECLINE OF SPANISH AND PROVENÇAL JEWRY / 143

Maimonides’ Guide for the Perplexed and Gersonides’ Milḥamot Adonai—The terrors of the Black Plague—The rabbis and

Contents

leaders of the era and their conservative tendencies—Rabbi Yomtov Lipmann Mühlhausen and his Sefer Ha-Nitzahon—The cultural decline of Spanish and Provençal Jewry—Isaac Israeli, Immanuel Bonfils, Estori Parhi, and Shemtov Ibn Arduial—Jacob ben Asher and his Arbaah Turim—Bahya ben Asher and the strengthening of mystical tendencies—The eclectics—David Ibn Bilia—Meir Aldabi and his Shevilei Emunah—Aldabi's battle against the "philosophizers"—The legend that Maimonides became an ardent Kabbalist

Chapter Two: THE CLERICAL REACTION IN SPAIN AND THE LITERATURE OF POLEMICS AGAINST CHRISTIANS / 165

The clerical reaction in Spain—Court Jews—The moral decline of the Jewish aristocracy—Solomon Alami's Iggeret Ha-Musar—Jew-hatred on the part of the Christian populace—The economic foundations of this hatred—The struggle for the crown of Spain and the consequent sufferings of the Jews—The persecutions of the Jews and anti-Jewish agitation—Polemic literature—The disputations of Moses de Tordesillas and Shemtov Ibn Shaprut—The agitation of the Catholic clergy—The massacre in Seville—The Marranos and the informer-apostates

Chapter Three: LAMPOONS IN RELIGIOUS DISPUTATIONS; JOSHUA LORKI AND PROFIAT DURAN / 179

Lampoons and tracts as weapons—Solomon Bonafed as poet and polemicist—Joshua Lorki and the apostate Paul of Burgos—Lorki's letter—The Marrano Profiat Duran and the drama of his life—Duran's Al Tebi Ka-Avotcha and Kelimmat Ha-Goyyim—The introduction to his Maaseh Efod and its cultural-historical significance—Three tendencies among the Jewish intelligentsia of the era

Chapter Four: HASDAI CRESCAS AND HIS ERA / 195

The intensification of mystical tendencies after the massacre at Seville—The Kabbalist and miracle-worker Moses Botarel—Abraham of Granada and his Berit Menuhab—The battle against rationalist philosophy on three fronts—The rabbis Menahem Ibn Zerah and Isaac bar Sheshet—The mystic Shemtov ben Shemtov and his Sefer Ha-Emunot—Back from Maimonides to Jehudah

Contents

Halevi—Hasdai Crescas as scholar and polemicist—Crescas as a thinker; his way and his system—The boundaries between the realms of religion and philosophy—Criticism of Aristotle's system and of Greek philosophy—Crescas on Maimonides' thirteen principles—Crescas' views on the extent of the world and on God's attributes—Not knowledge but love is the fundamental quality of God's nature—Divine knowledge and human freedom—The purpose of "the work of creation"—Crescas' attitude toward the Kabbalah and rationalism—"Thou shalt love the Lord" as basic principle of action and creation—The creation of the world as necessity—The infinity of the universe

Chapter Five: SIMEON DURAN AND JOSEPH ALBO / 227

The significance of Hasdai Crescas—The epigones—Philosophically educated theologians—Rabbi Simeon bar Tzemah Duran and his work—Duran as dogmatist—His views on the advent of the Messiah—Duran as champion of Judaism—What is "heresy"?—Joseph Albo and his Ikkarim—The influence of his predecessors—The significance of Albo's work—The consolation offered by Albo

Chapter Six: PREACHERS AND DEFENDERS OF THE FAITH / 241

Persecutions by the Catholic Church—The Jewish preachers and apologists—Hayyim Ibn Musa's Magen Va-Romah—Isaac Nathan's Bible concordance—Joseph ben Shemtov as preacher and polemicist—His philosophic work, Kevod Elohim—Joseph ben Shemtov as disciple of Hasdai Crescas—His attitude toward Aristotle and the question of immortality—His controversy with Maimonides and Gersonides—Only the Torah provides immortality—Laws of nature and religious laws—Joseph ben Shemtov against the "philosophizers"—The closed circle—Abraham Bi-bago's Derech Emunah—Ethical-philosophical preaching and Isaac Arama, its most eminent representative—Arama as preacher—His tract against the rationalists, Hazut Kashah—His struggle against the "plague of philosophy"

Chapter Seven: KABBALISTS AND SATIRISTS / 261

The anonymous Kabbalist—The Sefer Ha-Kanah and Sefer Ha-Peliah and their mystical style—The Kabbalah as highest authority—The "secrets of the Talmud"—The battle against the pleasures of this world—Indignation at the rabbis—The struggle for a “long-lost thing”—The last appearance of the Maimunists—Shemtov ben Joseph as compromiser between the “two lights”—The satire Alilot Devarim—The rationalist author—The literary value of Alilot Devarim—The last Jewish poet in Andalusia, Saadiah Ibn Danan—Ibn Danan as author of love poems—Ibn Danan as Maimunist and polemicist

Contents

Chapter Eight: DON ISAAC ABRAVANEL / 281

The great expulsion—The sufferings of the exiles—Echoes of the catastrophe in Hebrew literature—The apostates among the intelligentsia and the court Jews—Joseph Yaabetz and his Or Ha-Hayyim—Isaac Abravanel—Abravanel as Bible exegete and harbinger of the coming “redemption”—Conclusion

Bibliographical Notes / 291

Glossary of Hebrew Terms / 307

Index / 313

