

CONTENTS

BOOK SIX

Chapter	Page
1 On the persecution under Severus.	3
2 On Origen's training from childhood.	4
3 How, while quite young, he preached the word of Christ	8
4 How many were instructed by him and were led forth as martyrs.	12
5 On Potamiaena.	13
6 On Clement of Alexandria.	15
7 On Judas, a writer.	15
8 On Origen's rash deed	16
9 On the miracles of Narcissus.	18
10 On the bishops in Jerusalem.	20
11 On Alexander	20
12 On Serapion and his extant works	22
13 On the writings of Clement.	24
14 What Scriptures he has mentioned.	26
15 On Heraclas.	28
16 How Origen labored on the divine Scriptures.	29
17 On Symmachus, a translator.	31

Chapter	Page
18 On Ambrose.	32
19 What is related concerning Origen.	33
20 What writings of the men of that day are extant. .	40
21 What bishops were well known in the time of these men.	41
22 What works of Hippolytus have come down to us. .	43
23 On Origen's zeal and how he was deemed worthy of the presbyterate in the Church.	44
24 What commentaries he wrote at Alexandria.	46
25 How he made mention of the canonical Scriptures. .	47
26 How the bishops looked upon him.	51
27 How Heraclas succeeded to the bishopric of the Alexandrians.	51
28 On the persecution under Maximinus.	52
29 On Fabian, how he was miraculously designated bishop of the Romans by God.	53
30 How many pupils of Origen there have been. . . .	54
31 On Africanus.	56
32 What commentaries Origen wrote at Caesarea in Palestine	57
33 On the error of Beryllus.	58
34 On what happened under Philip.	59
35 How Dionysius succeeded Heraclas in the episcopacy.	60
36 What other works were written by Origen.	60
37 On the dissensions of the Arabians.	62
38 On the heresy of the Helkesaites.	63
39 On what happened under Decius.	64
40 On what happened to Dionysius.	67
41 On those who suffered martyrdom in Alexandria itself.	70

Chapter	Page
42 On others whom Dionysius describes.	76
43 On Novatus, what sort of a character he had, and on his heresy.	78
44 Dionysius' story about Serapion.	86
45 Dionysius' letter to Novatus.	87
46 On the other letters of Dionysius.	89

BOOK SEVEN

1 On the wickedness of Decius and Gallus.	91
2 The bishops of Rome in their day.	92
3 How Cyprian, together with the bishops with him, was the first to decree that those who turned away from heretical error should be cleansed by baptism. .	94
4 The number of letters that Dionysius composed on this subject.	94
5 On the peace after the persecution.	94
6 On the heresy of Sabellius.	96
7 On the abominable error of the heretics, and the God-sent vision of Dionysius, and the ecclesiastical canon which he had received.	97
8 On the heterodoxy of Novatus.	99
9 On the ungodly baptism of heretics.	100
10 On Valerian and the persecution of his time.	102
11 On what then happened to Dionysius and the people in Egypt.	105
12 On those who suffered martyrdom in Caesarea in Palestine.	112

Chapter	Page
13 On the peace under Gallicenus.	113
14 The bishops who flourished at that time.	115
15 How Marinus suffered martyrdom at Caesarea.	116
16 The story concerning Astyrius.	117
17 On the signs at Paneas of the mighty working of our Saviour.	118
18 On the statue which was erected by a woman suffering from an issue of blood.	119
19 On the throne of James.	120
20 On the festal letters of Dionysius, in which he also lays down a canon on the Pasch.	120
21 On what happened at Alexandria.	121
22 On the pestilence that fell upon it.	123
23 On the reign of Gallienus.	126
24 On Nepos and his schism.	128
25 On the Apocalypse of John.	131
26 On the letters of Dionysius.	137
27 On Paul of Samosata and the heresy he sustained at Antioch.	138
28 On the illustrious bishops who were known at that time.	139
29 How Paul, after he was refuted, was excommuni- cated.	141
30 The letters of the bishops against Paul.	142
31 On the perverse heterodoxy of the Manichaeans which began at just that time.	150
32 On the distinguished men of the Church of our own time, and which of them survived until the attack on the churches.	151

BOOK EIGHT

1 On the events preceding the persecution in our time. 163

2 On the destruction of the churches. 166

3 On the nature of the conflicts endured in the persecution. 168

4 On the famous martyrs of God, how they filled every place with their memory, wreathed with varied crowns for piety. 170

5 On those in Nicomedia. 171

6 On those in the imperial palaces. 172

7 On the Egyptians in Phoenicia. 175

8 On those in Egypt. 177

9 On those in the Thebais. 178

10 Accounts in writing of Phileas the martyr on what took place in Alexandria. 180

11 On those in Phrygia. 183

12 On a great many other men and women who contended for the crown in various ways. 184

13 On the bishops of the Church who demonstrated by their blood the genuineness of the piety which they cultivated. 188

14 On the character of the enemies of piety. 193

15 On what happened to those outside the Church. 198

16 On the change of affairs for the better. 199

17 On the recantation of the rulers. 200

Chapter		Page
BOOK NINE
1	On the pretended relaxation.	207
2	On the following change for the worse.	210
3	On the newly made image at Antioch.	211
4	On the measures passed against us.	212
5	On the forged Acts.	213
6	On those who suffered martyrdom at this time.	214
7	On the decree against us set up on slabs.	216
8	On what happened afterwards by way of famine and pestilence and war.	220
9	On the sudden end of the tyrants' lives, and words which they expressed before death.	223
9A	The epistle of the tyrant Jovius to Sabinus.	227
10	On the victory of the God-beloved emperors.	230
11	On the final destruction of the enemies of piety.	235

BOOK TEN

1	On the peace obtained for us from God.	239
2	On the restoration of the churches.	241
3	On the dedications in every place.	242
4	Panegyric on the joyous state of affairs.	243
5	Copies of imperial laws concerning the duties of Christians.	268
6	On the exemption of the clerics from public service.	278
7	On the later maliciousness of Licinius and his catas- trophe.	280
8	On the victory of Constantine and the resulting advantages through him for the subjects of the Roman Empire.	281
9	On the final victory of Christianity over Paganism through Constantine.	286