

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Series Editor Introduction	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
Part I Reframing History and Art	1
1 Introduction by Dipti Desai, Jessica Hamlin, and Rachel Mattson	3
2 Using Visual Historical Methods in the K–12 Classroom: Tactical Heuristics by Rachel Mattson	15
3 Curriculum as a Creative Process: An Interview with Artist-Educator Thi Bui by Dipti Desai	35
4 Artists in the Realm of Historical Methods: The Sound, Smell, and Taste of History by Dipti Desai and Jessica Hamlin	47
5 “Committing History in Public”: Lessons from Artists Working in the Public Realm by Jessica Hamlin and Dipti Desai	67
Part II Investigating History and Art: A Teaching Toolkit	81
6 Introduction to the Teaching Toolkits: Visual Approaches to Teaching about History	83
7 Foundations of Citizenship	95
Section 1: The Constitution and U.S. Government	97
Section 2: Japanese Incarceration	121
8 Constructing Race	147

	Section 1: Slavery and Abolition	149
	Section 2: Immigration	177
9	The United States and the World	197
	Section 1: Westward Expansion	199
	Section 2: The U.S. War in Vietnam	218
	Resources	243
	List of Contributors	247
	Figure Credits and Permissions	249
	Index	257