

Contents

LIST OF PLATES	xvii
LIST OF FIGURES	xix
LIST OF TABLES	xxi
ABBREVIATIONS	xxiii

I General Introduction	I
1. THE BACKGROUND: A NON-SEPARATING AND NON-DIVORCING SOCIETY	I
2. THE HISTORIOGRAPHY: FAMILY HISTORY	8
3. THE OBJECTIVES	11
4. A MODEL OF LEGAL CHANGE	18
5. MORALS	21
6. THE LEGAL SYSTEM	24
7. THE EVIDENCE	27
a. The Use of Legal Records	27
i. Advantages	27
ii. Limitations	29
iii. Fact or Fiction	32
b. The Court of Arches	33
c. Provincial Consistory Courts	41
d. The London Consistory Court	43
e. Other Records	44
8. SOME DEFINITIONS	45

PART I

THE MAKING OF MARRIAGE	49
------------------------	----

II The Law and Custom of Marriage	51
-----------------------------------	----

1. INTRODUCTION: THE LAW OF MARRIAGE	51
--------------------------------------	----

Contents

2. COURTSHIP	59
3. CUSTOMARY UNIONS AND CONCUBINAGE	64
III Contract Marriage	67
1. THE FIRST SUPPRESSION AND THE REVIVAL, 1540-1660	67
2. THE SECOND SUPPRESSION, 1660-1753	71
a. The Ambiguities of the Law	71
b. The Problem of Proof	72
c. Ritual Exchanges	74
d. Legal Policy	76
e. The End of Contract Litigation	79
f. International Comparisons	80
3. LEGAL IMPERIALISM BY THE COMMON LAW JUDGES	81
4. SUITS FOR SEDUCTION OF A DAUGHTER	83
5. SUITS FOR BREACH OF PROMISE	85
IV Clandestine Marriage	96
1. DEFINITION AND DEVELOPMENT	96
2. DEMAND FROM THE LAITY	98
3. SUPPLY BY THE CLERGY	102
a. Surrogates	102
b. Rural Clergy	104
c. London Clergy	106
4. PARLIAMENTARY LEGISLATION, 1666-1718	108
5. FLEET MARRIAGES, 1696-1753	110
6. THE DEMAND FOR REFORM	115
7. CONCLUSION	119
V From the Marriage Act of 1753 to 1868	121
1. THE MARRIAGE ACT OF 1753	121
2. FROM 1753 TO 1868	128
3. CONCLUSION	135

Contents

PART II

THE BREAKING OF MARRIAGE	139
VI Desertion, Elopement, and Wife-sale	141
1. MODES OF MARITAL BREAK-UP	141
2. ELOPEMENT AND DESERTION	141
3. WIFE-SALE	143
VII Private Separation	149
1. THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE PRIVATE SEPARATION DEED, 1650-1760	149
a. Origins: c. 1650	149
b. Evolution, 1650-1760	151
2. THE LEGALITY OF THE PRIVATE SEPARATION DEED, 1740-1860	153
a. The Eighteenth Century	153
b. The Conservative Reaction 1800-1840	154
c. The Liberal Response; 1820-1860	156
3. THE POPULARITY OF THE PRIVATE SEPARATION	158
4. THE ADVANTAGES TO THE HUSBAND	159
5. THE ADVANTAGES TO THE WIFE: FINANCIAL FREEDOM	160
6. THE ADVANTAGES TO THE WIFE: PERSONAL FREEDOM	162
a. Freedom from Legal Harassment	162
b. Freedom from Forcible Seizure and Confinement	164
c. The Loneliness of the Separated Wife	169
7. THE PROBLEM OF CHILD CUSTODY	170
a. Theory	170
b. The Law	171
c. Private Negotiations	174
d. Legitimacy	180
8. CONCLUSION	181

Contents

VIII Judicial Separation	183
1. INTRODUCTION	183
a. The Ecclesiastical Courts	183
b. The Number of Litigants	184
c. Types of Litigants	186
d. The Sex Ratio of Plaintiffs	186
e. Costs of Litigation	187
2. TYPES OF SUITS	190
a. Nullity	191
b. Jactitation	192
c. Separation from Bed and Board	192
d. Restitution of Conjugal Rights	194
3. PROCEDURE	195
a. Launching a Suit	195
b. The Rules of Evidence	197
c. The Legal Definition of Cruelty	198
d. Legal Defences	206
i. Condonation	206
ii. Collusion	207
iii. Connivance	208
iv. Recrimination	209
e. Alimony	210
4. SERVANTS AND MASTERS	211
a. The Absence of Privacy	211
b. The Reputation of the Servants	215
c. The Lives of Servants	216
5. SERVANTS IN COURT	220
a. Servants as Observers	220
b. Servants as Delators	224
c. Servants as Witnesses	226
d. Conclusion	228
IX The Action for Criminal Conversation	231
1. THE NATURE OF THE ACTION	231
2. THE PRINCIPLES OF THE ACTION	236
a. Introduction	236
b. Male Honour and the Duel	237
c. Property	241
d. Female Purity	243

Contents

3. THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE ACTION: 1620-1760	244
a. The Pre-History, 1620-1692	244
b. The Era of Stagnation, 1692-1760	246
4. PUBLICITY AND THE PRESS	248
a. The Causes of Publicity	248
b. Types of Publications	249
c. The Motives of the Readers	251
d. The Consequences of the Publicity	253
5. THE APOGEE OF THE ACTION	255
a. The Evidence of Growth	255
b. The Causes of Growth	256
i. A Rise in Wifely Adultery?	256
ii. A Rise in Litigation?	260
6. THE ASSESSMENT OF DAMAGES	262
a. The Status and Wealth of the Plaintiff	262
b. 'Loss of Comfort and Society'	263
c. The Moral Responsibility of the Husband	265
i. Quarrels or Neglect	265
ii. Prior Private Separation	266
iii. Prior Adultery by the Husband	267
d. The Moral Turpitude of the Adulterous Couple	267
e. The Status of the Defendant	270
f. The Capacity of the Defendant to Pay	272
7. THE MORAL PANIC OF THE 1790S	273
a. Lord Kenyon and Thomas Erskine	273
b. Fear of the French Revolution	277
8. THE RESULTS OF THE MORAL PANIC	278
a. The Ruin of Defendants	278
b. Entrapment and Connivance	279
c. Collusion	282
d. Flight	284
e. Conclusion	285
9. THE MORAL REACTION	286
a. Moral Scruples about Taking Damages	286
b. Legal Justice for Women	288
c. The Ideal of Victorian Domesticity	289
10. THE ABOLITION OF THE ACTION IN 1857	290
a. The Opposition to Crim. Con.	290
b. The Defence of Crim. Con.	293
c. Compromise	294

Contents

II. CONCLUSION	295
a. Stages of Evolution of the Action	295
b. Society and the Law	297
X Parliamentary Divorce	301
I. ESTABLISHING THE RULES	301
a. Introduction	301
b. The Period of Uncertainty, 1534-1597	301
c. Fixing the Rules, 1597-1603	305
d. The Interregnum, 1642-1660	308
2. CREATING THE EXCEPTIONS, 1670-1750	308
a. The Roos Case, 1670	309
b. The Norfolk Case, 1692-1700	313
c. Other Cases in the 1690s	317
d. The Debate about Parliamentary Divorce, 1690-1700	319
3. THE RESHAPING OF THE PROCEDURE, 1750-1830	322
a. The Standardization of the Rules	322
b. The Rise in Numbers	325
c. The Changes in Social Composition	326
4. CHANGES IN PURPOSE AND FUNCTION, 1750-1857	327
a. From the Protection of Property to the Pursuit of Happiness	327
b. The Rise of Connivance and Collusion	328
i. Connivance	328
ii. Collusion	329
iii. The Reaction: Lord Loughborough's Rules of 1798	332
iv. The Reaction: The Anti-Adultery Bills, 1771-1809	335
5. DIVORCED AND REMARRIED WIVES, 1750-1857	339
a. Introduction	339
b. Separation from Children	340
c. Social Ostracism	341
d. Financial Position	345
6. CONCLUSION	346
XI Divorce Reform Proposals, 1604-1850	347
I. REFORM PROPOSALS FROM 1604 TO 1800	347

Contents

2. OPPOSITION TO REFORM, 1604-1800	350
3. RISING DEMANDS, 1800-1850	353
a. Social Changes	353
b. The Exclusion of All but the Rich	354
c. The Revolt of the Lawyers	357
d. The Exclusion of Wives as Petitioners	360
e. Women's Demand for Legal Justice	362
4. THE DEBATES OVER THE ELLENBOROUGH DIVORCE AND DR PHILLIMORE'S BILL, 1830	364
5. CONCLUSION	366
XII The Passage of the Divorce Reform Act, 1850-1857	368
1. PRELIMINARY SKIRMISHES	368
2. THE DEBATE OVER THE DIVORCE BILL, 1856-1857	371
a. Government Objectives	371
b. Outside Pressure Groups	372
c. The Drive for Women's Legal Rights	374
d. The Battle over the Bill, 1857	378
XIII Epilogue: The Century of Divorce Law Reform, 1857-1987	383
1. THE EFFECTS OF THE ACT OF 1857	383
a. Conservative Moral Attitudes	383
b. The Number of Divorces, 1858-1900	387
c. The Benefits to Women	388
d. Conclusion	388
2. DIVORCE LAW REFORM, 1906-1923	390
a. Reformist Moral Attitudes	390
b. The Royal Commission of 1912	392
c. The Divorce Law Reform Bill 1918-1923	394
d. The Results of the Act of 1923	396
3. THE DIVORCE REFORM ACT OF 1937	397
a. The Need for Reform	397
b. The Passage of the Act	398
c. The Effects of the Act	401

Contents

4. THE DIVORCE REFORM ACT OF 1969	401
a. The Royal Commission of 1956	401
b. The Debate in 1968–1969	406
5. THE DIVORCE REVOLUTION, 1960–1987	409
a. Facts	409
b. Causes	410
c. Consequences	416
 Appendix: A list of Pamphlets concerning the Marriage Act of 1753	 423
 TABLES	 424
 INDEX	 447