

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Map of the Silk Roads	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
1 Setting the Stage: Xinjiang and Imperial and Early Republican China	1
Physical Environment	2
Silk Roads	4
Early History and the Silk Roads	5
Mongol Era and Xinjiang to 1750s	9
China Rules Xinjiang	14
Rebellion in Xinjiang and Aftermath	16
End of the Qing Dynasty and Consequences	22
2 China, the USSR, and the Emergence of Uyghurs	27
USSR Involvement and Chinese and Uyghur Responses	30
Chinese Communists Emerge Victorious	35
New Communist Policies	37
Repeated Changes in Communist Policies	49
Emergence of Radical Initiatives	50

3	Moderation and Ensuing Violence, 1976–2000	65
	Era of Reform in Xinjiang	65
	Uyghur Protests Start in 1990	74
	Government Responses to Protests	77
	Increases in Violence and “Strike Hard”	85
4	“Carrots and Sticks” in the Twenty-First Century	91
	Shanghai Cooperation Organization, 9/11 Aftereffects vs. Moderation	91
	Uyghur Dissatisfaction and PRC Responses	97
	Violent Explosions	102
	Peace through Moderation or Strike Hard Policies?	109
	Xi Jinping and Three New Policies	115
	Xi Reacts to Violence	120
	Training Centers or Camps?	127
	Failures and Successes and the Future	136
	US Policy	139
	Bibliography	151
	Index	157