

---

Contents

Part I The Fundamentals

- 1 The Physics of Vibration. ..... 3
Jörn Rittweger and Redha Taiar
- 2 The Biology of Vibration ..... 23
Eddy A. van der Zee
- 3 Design Principles of Available Machines. ..... 39
Rainer Rawer
- 4 Safety and Contraindications. ..... 55
Danny A. Riley and Jörn Rittweger

Part II Physiological Responses

- 5 Biomechanics of Vibration Exercise ..... 69
Darryl Cochrane and Jörn Rittweger
- 6 Cutaneous and Muscle Mechanoreceptors: Sensitivity to Mechanical Vibrations ..... 87
Edith Ribot-Ciscar
- 7 Electromyographical Recordings During Vibration ..... 109
Ramona Ritzmann, Ilhan Karacan, and Kemal S. Türker
- 8 Supraspinal Responses and Spinal Reflexes. ..... 121
Ramona Ritzmann and Katya Mileva
- 9 Assessing Reflex Latencies in Responses to Vibration: Evidence for the Involvement of More Than One Receptor ..... 135
Ilhan Karacan and Kemal S. Türker
- 10 Metabolic Responses to Whole-Body Vibration Exercise ..... 143
Jörn Rittweger
- 11 Circulation Effects ..... 155
Darryl Cochrane and Jörn Rittweger

|                                               |                                                                                                       |     |
|-----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 12                                     | Hormonal Responses to Vibration Therapy . . . . .                                              | 169 |
|                                               | Eloá Moreira-Marconi, Danubia da Cunha de Sá-Caputo,Alessandro Sartorio, and Mario Bernardo-Filho |     |
| Part III Use of Vibration for Training |                                                                                                       |     |
| 13                                     | Warming-Up . . . . .                                                                           | 187 |
|                                               | Darryl Cochrane                                                                                       |     |
| 14                                     | Modulation of Neuromuscular Function . . . . .                                                 | 203 |
|                                               | Pedro J. Marín                                                                                        |     |
| 15                                     | Application in Athletes . . . . .                                                              | 213 |
|                                               | Darryl Cochrane                                                                                       |     |
| 16                                     | Using Whole-Body Vibration for Countermeasure Exercise . . . . .                               | 229 |
|                                               | Patrick J. Owen, Daniel L. Belavy, and Jörn Rittweger                                                 |     |
| Part IV Clinical Applications          |                                                                                                       |     |
| 17                                     | How to Design Exercise Sessions with Whole-BodyVibration Platforms . . . . .              | 247 |
|                                               | Christina Stark and Jörn Rittweger                                                                    |     |
| 18                                     | Whole-Body Vibration in Geriatric Rehabilitation . . . . .                                     | 255 |
|                                               | Martin Runge and Jörn Rittweger                                                                       |     |
| 19                                     | Application of Vibration Training for Enhancing Bone Strength . . . .                          | 269 |
|                                               | Debra Bemben                                                                                          |     |
| 20                                     | Whole-Body Vibration Exercise as a Treatment Option forChronic Lower Back Pain . . . . .  | 279 |
|                                               | Jörn Rittweger                                                                                        |     |
| 21                                     | Pediatric Rehabilitation . . . . .                                                             | 285 |
|                                               | Christina Stark, Ibrahim Duran, and Eckhard Schoenau                                                  |     |
| 22                                     | Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) . . . . .                                         | 319 |
|                                               | Rainer Gloeckl                                                                                        |     |
| 23                                     | Urinary Incontinence . . . . .                                                                 | 329 |
|                                               | Volker Viereck and Marianne Gamper                                                                    |     |
| 24                                     | Primary Muscle Disorders . . . . .                                                             | 337 |
|                                               | Ibrahim Duran, Christina Stark, and Eckhard Schoenau                                                  |     |
| 25                                     | Application of Vibration Training in People with CommonNeurological Disorders . . . . .   | 343 |
|                                               | Feng Yang                                                                                             |     |

26 Whole-Body Vibration Therapy in Patients with Pulmonary Hypertension and Right Heart Failure: Lessons from a Pilot Study . . 355
Felix Gerhardt and Stephan Rosenkranz

27 Vibration Exercise and Vibration Therapy in Metabolic Syndrome . . 363
Laisa Liane Paineiras-Domingos, Danúbia da Cunha de Sá-Caputo, and Mario Bernardo-Filho

28 Whole-Body Vibration Exercise in Cancer. . . . . 381
Patrícia Lopes-Souza, Danúbia da Cunha de Sá-Caputo, Redha Taiar, and Mario Bernardo-Filho