

Contents

Preface	page ix
Acknowledgments	x
Introduction: beginnings, periods and problems	1
1 The economy of manufacture	17
2 A universal merchant to the world: the political economy of commerce and finance	52
3 The ambiguities of free trade	88
4 The reach of the state: taxation	123
5 The age of localism	155
6 The public, the private and the state: civil society 1680–1880	192
7 Exclusion and inclusion: the political consequences of 1688	234
8 Exclusion and inclusion: defending the politics of finality 1832–1885	264
9 The stabilities and instabilities of elite authority: social relations c.1688–c.1880	292
Afterword	336
Index	343