

Contents

List of illustrations	ix	• Proto-nation formation	36
List of boxes	xi	The Arab conquests	37
Illustration acknowledgements	xiii	Further reading	40
CHAPTER 1 CONCEPTS AND INTERPRETIVE FRAMEWORKS	1	CHAPTER 4 CHRISTIANITY AND ISLAM: THE ESTABLISHMENT OF TWO WORLD RELIGIONS	42
The terms 'Middle Ages', 'humanism', 'Renaissance' and 'Reformation'	2	The Christian Church in the transition from Antiquity to the Middle Ages	42
Periods and types of society	3	• The relationship between emperor and pope	44
Regional diversity	5	• Material wealth, accumulation and distribution	45
Which Europe?	6	Church organization	46
From scarcity to hegemony	7	• The clergy and its tasks	46
Further reading	8	• Church hierarchy: episcopate and diocese	48
CHAPTER 2 THE ROMAN LEGACY	10	• Metropolitans and archbishops, patriarchs and pope	48
Disintegration of the Empire	10	• Church parishes	49
• The structure of government	10	• Church councils	49
• A state economy	13	Religious doctrine, orthodoxy and heterodoxy	50
• Ruralization	14	• Sainthood and saints	53
The Eastern Roman Empire	15	Monasticism and the monastic life	54
• Justinian	16	Spreading the faith	56
• Implosion and consolidation	18	• Missions and conversion	56
• Renewed expansion	19	• Christianization and syncretization	61
Further reading	20	Islam	64
CHAPTER 3 THE MIGRATION PERIOD	22	Further reading	66
Waiting for the barbarians	22	CHAPTER 5 SOCIETY AND ECONOMY IN THE EARLY MIDDLE AGES	69
• Tribes, peoples and ethnogeneses	24	Early medieval society	69
Migrations	26	• Transformation: the aristocracy	69
• Backgrounds: push and pull factors	26	• Demotion: the free fighting men	70
• Chronology	29
The barbarian kingdoms	32
• Barbarian kingship	32
• The barbarian kingdoms in the West	33
• Segregation or integration?	35

• Promotion: the slaves	72	CHAPTER 8 RELIGIOUS RENEWAL AND REFORM, 1000–1250	128
• Serfdom, lordship over land and the manorial system	73	Aspirations to reform	128
Trade and gift-exchange	77	• Pope versus emperor: the investiture controversy	128
• Frisians and Vikings	79	• Papal claims to the highest authority in the world	133
Further reading	82	The popes as leaders of the Church	134
CHAPTER 6 THE WORLD OF THE FRANKS	84	Reformation and renewal in monastic life	136
The Merovingians	84	• Cluny and the Ecclesia cluniacensis	136
The origins of the Carolingian dynasty	86	• The new orders	139
The century of the Carolingians	88	• Vita apostolica and the new spirituality	140
Patrimony and state	91	• The mendicant orders	141
• Honour and blood	91	The faithful become visible	145
• Vassals and benefices	92	• God's peace and God's truce	145
An incipient state	93	• Among the believers	146
• The fiction of a united empire	97	• The creation of a persecuting society	149
• Counts and hereditariness	98	Further reading	150
Dynamic peripheries	99	CHAPTER 9 EARLY KINGDOMS AND TERRITORIAL PRINCIPALITIES, 900–1200	153
• Britain	99	The imperial dream	153
• Moorish Iberia	100	• East Frankish and West Frankish kingdoms	153
• The Vikings	103	• The establishment of the German kingdom	155
Further reading	105	• The imperial Church	156
CHAPTER 7 ACCELERATED GROWTH	107	• Restoration of the emperorship	157
Population growth	107	• Empire and priesthood	158
Volume and nature of agricultural production	107	• The battle on two fronts of the Salian House	159
New forms of authority	112	• The Mediterranean ambitions of the Hohenstaufen	160
• The 'banal revolution'	112	• Italy	163
• Regional differences and feudo-vassalic 'packaging'	114	• Emperor and pope	164
• Changes in the surplus extraction. Adjustments in the demesne economy	116	• Vassal states in central Europe?	165
Knights and peasants in the medieval image of society	117	France: the concentric model	166
• Horsemen become knights	117	The making of England	170
• Courtly culture: new rules for moving in high circles	119	Iberia	173
• Tendencies towards classification and separateness	122	The institutionalization of the state	177
• Peasants	124	• The dynamics of monarchy	177
Further reading	126	• Kingship becomes an office	179
		• Servants of the state	180

• A show of strength in Gothic style	182	The Carolingian renaissance	247
Further reading	183	The twelfth-century renaissance: an intellectual revolution?	248
CHAPTER 10 WEAKENING CENTRES OF POWER IN THE EAST AND THE BEGINNINGS OF EUROPEAN EXPANSION	186	• Literati, collectors and translators	249
The West becomes more aggressive	186	• The revival of Aristotle	250
• Shifting centres of gravity	187	• The influence of the new logic	251
• The multicultural East	189	• Natural philosophy and metaphysics	254
• The impulse for the crusades	190	• The formation of universities	254
• Crusades, crusader states and western colonies in the East	191	University scholarship and the intellectual crisis at the end of the thirteenth century	257
• The later crusades	196	• University scholarship in action	257
• The spread of faith and colonization	197	• University scholarship in crisis	259
Take off to a commercial revolution	200	• William of Ockham	260
• The transport revolution	202	• Ockham and the debate about universalia	260
• Progress in organization	203	• Ockham's theology	262
• The commercialization of the countryside	210	• Aristotle criticized	262
• Goods and money	212	The humanism of the late Middle Ages	264
Further reading	214	• Studia humanitatis and the new humanism in Italy	264
CHAPTER 11 THE URBANIZED SOCIETY	217	• The new humanism outside Italy	267
The phenomenon of the town	217	Further reading	269
• The scale of towns and of urbanization	217	CHAPTER 13 BETWEEN CRISIS AND CONTRACTION: POPULATION, ECONOMY AND SOCIETY IN THE LATE MIDDLE AGES	271
• The morphology of the medieval town	220	War, famine and pestilence	271
Autonomy	222	• Famines and subsistence crises	271
• Urban privileges	222	• The mystery of the Black Death and its echo epidemics	274
• Public order	224	• The damage and suffering of war	276
• Public office and common good	227	Theories on demographic decline and economic development	276
Social relationships	229	• Europe 1300: a society under pressure?	277
• Patrician government	229	• The agrarian crisis of the late Middle Ages	278
• Urban society	232	• Symptoms	278
• Craft guilds	234	• Solutions	279
Networks of towns	237	Economic crisis or contraction?	282
Further reading	239	Characteristics of late medieval society	282
CHAPTER 12 THINKING ABOUT MAN AND THE WORLD	241	• Openness and closure	282
A Greek legacy: the medieval view of the world and mankind	241	• The position of women	284
• Universe, earth, man, spirit	241	Social contrasts and social conflicts	287
The heavy burden of auctoritas	243	• Contrasts between town and country	287
• The higher education programme of late Antiquity in the early Middle Ages	246	• A new 'culture of revolt'?	287
		A world of ubiquitous poverty	291
		Further reading	293

VIII CONTENTS

CHAPTER 14 THE CONSOLIDATION OF STATES 296

From principality to state 296

- Types of sovereign government 296
- State-making through warfare 297
- The Holy Roman Empire: balance of powers 299
- Iberia: kings and cortes 301
- Scandinavian dynastic unions 301
- Central Europe and the Baltic 302

Driving forces in the formation of states 305

- Dynasties, territories, institutions, peoples 305
- War 306

State institutions and social order 309

- Supreme law courts 309
- Bureaucratization 311
- Taxation 313
- The subjects 317
- Balance of powers 320

Contrasts. New empires in the East:

- Riurikid Russia and the Ottoman Empire 321
- Riurikid Russia 321
- The formation of the Ottoman Empire 323

Further reading 325

CHAPTER 15 CRISIS IN THE CHURCH AND THE REORIENTATION OF THE FAITHFUL, 1250–1500 328

Who leads Christendom? 328

- New ideas on the relationship between spiritual and secular power 330

The popes in Avignon and the bureaucratization of the Curia 332

The Great Schism and the conciliar movement 333

Religious life in the late Middle Ages 334

- Observantism and the new secular movements 335
- Devotion and mysticism 337
- The religious perception of ordinary believers 338

Further reading 343

CHAPTER 16 NEW TIMES? 346

Acceleration 346

The medieval roots of modern culture 349

Index 353

Illustrations

PLATES

1.1 World map
 1.2 Tabular data
 2.2 Interior view
 4.1 Manuscript page
 4.2 Shrine
 4.3 Dome in Jerusalem
 5.1 Gold coin
 5.2 Hair shirt
 6.1 Lumber
 6.2 Summer
 6.3 Throne
 6.4 Map of
 6.5 Moorish
 6.6 Oseberg
 7.1 Medieval
 7.2 Ivory ch
 7.3 Bamberg
 8.1 Common
 8.2 Cluny abb
 8.3 Vitruvian
 8.4 Fresco o
 8.5 Montség
 9.1 Power sy
 Empire
 9.2 Common
 9.3 Martyr
 9.4 Rheims c
 10.1 Krak des
 10.2 Images o
 10.3 The drap
 10.4 Puzosian
 10.5 Two sce