

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction: The Suburbs as Region 1

Part I. Cold War Battle Lines and Prohibitions (1940s–1960s)

Chapter 1. Moving Out, Moving In: Race, Residential Rights, and Domestic Security 27

Chapter 2. Adjustment Culture: Compulsory Domesticity and Its Discontents 60

Part II. Neoliberalism and the Post–Cold War Era (1970s–1990s)

Chapter 3. Serious Fiction: Consumer-Citizenship, Market Logic, and the Postmetropolis 97

Chapter 4. Containment Culture: Suburban Domesticity and Nation as Home 135

Part III. Regional Crossroads and the New Millennium (2000s–2010s)

Chapter 5. Moving Back, Moving On: Transnational Suburban Regions 161

Chapter 6. Housing Crises: Race, History, and Recession-Era Domesticity 185

Epilogue. The End of the Suburbs? 213

Notes 219

Bibliography 267

Index 285