

Introduction to the Special Issue: Moving Beyond the Narrative of the Migration 'Crisis' (Bernadette Nadya Jaworsky and Ivana Rapoš Božič)	261
---	-----

ARTICLES

Jan Krotký, Bernadette Nadya Jaworsky and Petr Kaniok: The Legitimacy of European Union Migration and Asylum Policy among the Czech Public	269
Veronika Kotýnková Krotká: 'Not knowing When It's Going to Happen and What's Going to Happen': Time Politics in Applying for a Residence Permit in the Czech Republic	293
Carlos Gómez del Tronco: Searching for the 'Muslims' in Czech Islamophobia and the Effects of Intergroup Contact in Challenging the 'Fear of the Unknown'	315
Ivana Rapoš Božič, Alica Synek Rétiová and Radka Klvaňová: 'We Have Always Been like This': The Local Embeddedness of Migration Attitudes . . .	339

BOOK REVIEWS

Tomasz Inglot, Dorottya Szikra and Cristina Raț: Mothers, Families, or Children? Family Policy in Poland, Hungary, and Romania, 1945–2020 (Sergiu Delcea)	367
Nancy Folbre: The Rise and Decline of Patriarchal Systems: An Intersectional Political Economy (Frederik Pfeiffer)	370
Minouche Shafik: What We Owe Each Other: A New Social Contract for a Better Society (Nora Kannisto)	373
John Wall: Give Children the Vote: On Democratizing Democracy (Óskar Daði Jóhannsson)	375
Daron Acemoglu: Redesigning AI – Work, Democracy, and Justice in the Age of Automation (Selina Dzafic)	377
Nuno Crato: Improving a Country's Education PISA 2018 Results in 10 Countries (Nanna Rahbek Jørgensen)	379
Bertel Nygaard: History and the Formation of Marxism (Baihe Zhang)	380