CHAPTER 1 Breastfeeding: Normal Sucking and Swallowing..... 1

Catherine Watson Genna and Jill Rabin
Normal Sucking	1
Anatomy	3
Suckling or Sucking: Differences Between Suckling at the Breast and Sucking at the Bottle	7
Deglutition (Swallowing)	8
Neural Control of Sucking and Swallowing	9
Reflexive Control of Sucking and Swallowing	11
The Three Phases of Swallowing	12
Dysphagia	14
Feeding Assessment	16

Factors Affecting Feeding	17
Screening Tools Versus Assessment Tools	18
Other Oral-Motor Assessment Tools	18
Facilitation Versus Compensation	19
Clinical Breastfeeding Assessment	19
Developing a Feeding Plan	41

CHAPTER 2 Breastfeeding and Nurturescience.....49

Nils Bergman
Introduction	49
Early Developmental Mechanisms	50
Later Developmental Mechanisms	56

CHAPTER 3 Impact of Birth Practices on Breastfeeding.....65

Linda J. Smith
Proximity Versus Separation of Mother and Baby	66
Infant Factors That Affect Breastfeeding Initiation	67
Maternal Birth Factors That Affect Breastfeeding	72
Solutions: Policies and Strategies to Prevent, Recover, and Support Breastfeeding	74
Summary of Recovery From and Resolution of Birth-Related Infant Problems	81

CHAPTER 4 How Infants Learn to Feed:
A Neurobehavioral Model89

Christina M. Smillie

Innate Mammalian Newborn Feeding Behaviors	90
Baby-Led Learning	94
Explaining Infant Competence: The Neurobehavioral Literature	98
Baby-Led Learning: From Theory to Practice	102
How Babies Can Learn to Feed: An Alternative Approach	102
How Babies Can Relearn to Feed: An Approach to Distressed Behavior at the Breast	105
Our Role in Helping Mothers and Babies as They Learn to Breastfeed	106

CHAPTER 5 They Can Do It,
You Can Help: Building
Breastfeeding Skill and Confidence in Mother and Helper 113

Rebecca Glover and Diane Wiessinger

Self-Efficacy Theory and Breastfeeding	113
Use Your Expertise Only as Needed	116
Biological Nurturing, or Laid-Back Breastfeeding	117
Undoing the Recent Past	122
Presucking Behaviors: Think Biological Imperatives	122
The Helping Continuum	127
When Technique Is Necessary: Mother-Sped and Mother-Led Breastfeeding	128
When Technique Is Not Enough	145
Conclusion	150

CHAPTER 6 The Goldilocks
Problem: Milk Flow That Is Not Too Fast, Not Too Slow, but
Just Right or, Why Milk Flow
Matters and What to Do
About It153

Lynn S. Wolf and Robin P. Glass

Introduction	153
Foundations of Infant Feeding: A Triad of Skills	153
The Relationship Between Flow Rate and Coordination of Sucking, Swallowing, and Breathing	159
Factors to Consider in Assessing Flow Rate	160
Assessing Flow Rate During Breastfeeding	163
Common Diagnoses Related to Flow Issues	165
Intervention Strategies to Alter Flow	166
Conclusion	169

CHAPTER 7 Breastfeeding
Preterm Infants173

Kerstin Hedberg Nyqvist and Maxine Scringer-Wilkes

Breastfeeding Rates in Preterm Infants	173
Special Characteristics and Needs of Preterm Infants	175
Assessment of Readiness or Facilitation of Competence	176
Facilitation of Breastfeeding by Developmentally Supportive Care	178
Establishing and Protecting the Breastmilk Supply	183
Observing Breastfeeding in Preterm Infants	185

Early Breastfeeding Competence in Preterm Infants 185

Mental Checklist for Practical
Breastfeeding Support 189

Use of Alternative Feeding Methods
Related to Breastfeeding 193

Strategies for the Transition from Enteral
Feeding to Breastfeeding 196

Transition From Full or Partial Enteral
Feeding to Full Breastfeeding 197

The Kangaroo Mother Care (KMC)
Method 203

The WHO/UNICEF Baby-Friendly
Hospital Initiative (BFHI) Adapted for Neonatal Intensive Care 205

Structured Approaches 206

Conclusion 209

CHAPTER 8 The Influence of Anatomic and Structural Issues on Sucking Skills 219

Catherine Watson Genna

Introduction 219

Craniosynostosis 220

Hemangiomas 221

Micrognathia, Retrognathia, and Mandibular Hypoplasia 223

Macroglossia 229

Breastfeeding and Oral Clefts 230

Congenital Abnormalities of the Airway 252

Congenital Heart Disease 264

Other Structural Issues 272

Conclusion 284

CHAPTER 9 The Changing
Perspective on Tongue-Tie 303

*Catherine Watson Genna
and Judy LeVan Fram*

Introduction 303

Ankyloglossia [Tongue-Tie] 304

Classification of Ankyloglossia 315

Management of Ankyloglossia
Without a Frenotomy 327

Tongue Exercises 331

Using a Nipple Shield 334

Superior Labial Frenulum 335

Frenotomy and Frenuloplasty
Procedures: More Questions
Than Answers 337

Conclusion 338

CHAPTER 10 Hands in Support of Breastfeeding: Manual Therapy 347

Sharon A. Vallone

Biomechanics 348

What Is the Subluxation, or the Osteopathic Lesion: Mechanical
Lesion/Somatic Dysfunction? 352

What Is Manual Therapy? 352

Cranial Techniques 354

The Breastfeeding Dyad 356

Conclusion 374

Dedication 374

CHAPTER 11 Sensory Integration and Breastfeeding 381

Catherine Watson Genna and Diklah Barak

What Is Sensory Integration? 381

Forward Modeling 383

Putting It All Together: Sensory
Processing and Integration 383

Sensory Processing Disorder 385

The Role of Sensory Integration and Sensory Processing in Breastfeeding 386

Breastfeeding Infants With Sensory Processing Difficulties 391

Gravitational Insecurity 394

Muscle Tone 395

Tactual Defensiveness 397
 Massage Therapy 398
 Maternal Sensory Processing 399
 Conclusion 402

CHAPTER 12 Neurological Issues and Breastfeeding 407

Catherine Watson Genna, Judy LeVan Fram, and Jill Rabin

Causes of Neurological Disability in Newborns 407
 Developmental Structural Issues 410
 Hydrocephaly 415
 Autistic Spectrum Disorder 415
 Genetic Neurological Conditions 420
 Neuromuscular Junction Issues 432
 Effects of Neurological Disorders on Feeding 433
 Supportive Techniques 435
 Interaction of Birth Interventions With Neurological Issues 439
 Preparatory Handling 440
 Alertness 442
 Sucking Issues in Neurologically Impaired Infants 442
 Oral Motor Dysfunction and Facilitative Techniques 447
 Helping Infants Who Feed Ineffectively 452
 Dysphagia and Neurologically Involved Infants 466
 Postural Support 470
 Feeding Environment 471
 Gastroesophageal Reflux 471
 Conclusion 474

CHAPTER 13 Therapeutic Positioning for Breastfeeding 495

Chele Marmet and Ellen Shell

The Importance of Positioning 495
 Naming Positions 496
 The Importance of Skin-to-Skin Contact 496
 Therapeutic Positions for Treatment 498
 Modifications for Specific Problems 506
 Positions for Multiples 509
 Conclusion 510

CHAPTER 14 Counseling Parents of Infants With Feeding Difficulties 513

Jennifer Leopold

Building Rapport 513
 Birth of a Parent 517
 The Importance of Feeding 518
 A Trauma-Informed Approach 519
 Grief, Shame, and Loss in the Perinatal Period 525
 Pressure of Perfection 528
 Hard Conversations 531
 Vitamin T 533
 Community Support 536
 Self-Care Practices 538
 Collaboration 541
 Conclusion 542
