

Contents

List of figures		viii
List of tables		ix
Foreword		x
Olivier De Schutter
1	Can Mutual Aid in a Post-industrial Society Reforge the Political?	1
	Frank Moulaert, Bob Jessop, Erik Swyngedouw and Liana Simmons
	1.1 Community, polity and social innovation: a historical overview	2
	1.2 Contemporary debates on social innovation and socio-political transformation	18
	1.3 Reflection and debate: three viewpoints on social innovation and its socio-political change potential	31
	1.4 The way forward: a dialogical encounter	35
	1.5 Overview of the book	38
2	Bottom-linked Governance and Socio-political Transformation	44
	Frank Moulaert
	2.1 Situating bottom-linked governance in territorial social innovation research trajectories	45
	2.2 Bottom-linked governance	47
	2.3 Bottom-linked governance: cases and experiences	50
	2.4 Drawing some lessons from these examples	54
	2.5 Conclusion	56

3	Is Emancipatory Politicization Still Possible Today?	60
	Erik Swyngedouw
3.1	Collective experiments and political insurgencies	62
3.2	A diagnosis of our times	64
3.3	Foregrounding critical political theory and practice	68
3.4	Conclusion: what to think?	70
4	Exploring the Dilemma between Self-emancipation and Self-responsibilization	73
	Bob Jessop
4.1	The enlightenment social imaginary	74
4.2	The state and civil society as sites of political representation: a Gramscian reading	75
4.3	Responses to governance failure	86
4.4	Looking ahead	89
4.5	Conclusion	92
5	Debate: A Dialogical Encounter on the Potentialities of Social Innovation for Social Political Transformation	94
5.1	On integrating time and space in social innovation analysis	95
5.2	On social innovation and political or governance forms	100
5.3	On civil society and reinventing the political	104
5.4	On the origins of subversive initiatives	107
5.5	On triggers of political mobilization	112
5.6	On social innovation and individualism	117
6	Towards Socially Innovative Political Transformation	119
	Frank Moulaert, Pieter Van den Broeck, Liana Simmons, Bob Jessop and Erik Swyngedouw
6.1	What remains of the political?	120
6.2	The potential of civil society for socio-political transformation	126
6.3	Unlocking the potentialities of civil society	132

6.4	Ethics, moments of opportunity and socio-political transformation	136
6.5	Contrapunti ■	143

Index		148
--------------	--	-----