

Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| Acknowledgements | 7 |
| List of Abbreviations | 9 |
| Introduction | 10 |
| Czechoslovakia: "The Child of Propaganda" | 20 |
| Radio: The Ideal Medium for Exile | 24 |
| Less Trouble than the Rest: The Czechoslovak Government within the British Propaganda Structure | 30 |
| Scope and Sources | 46 |
| Chapter One: | |
| "Legal, loyal, and internationally recognised": Legitimacy and the Performance of Government | 59 |
| "In the name of the Czechoslovak Republic": The Authority of Legality | 63 |
| "We are the Masaryk nation": The Authority of Tradition | 70 |
| "We are close together at heart": The Authority of Charisma | 85 |
| Exercising Authority: The odsun and "Rabble-rousing" from London | 98 |
| Chapter Two: | |
| Populating the "Free Republic": Performing Nationhood over the Radio | 108 |
| Radio as a Medium for Nation-Building | 113 |
| "Faithful to the spirit of our history": Reading the War into the National Narrative | 119 |
| "Anything that is dear to their hearts": The Mobilisation of Culture | 131 |

Chapter Three:

| | |
|---|-----|
| Idiots and Traitors? Addressing Slovakia from London | 151 |
| “The admirable and loyal Czechoslovak nation” | 161 |
| “Do not betray yourselves”: A Policy of Negative Propaganda | 171 |
| “There is no free Slovakia”: Political Arguments | 171 |
| “The most blatant ingratitude”: The Slovak State and the USA | 176 |
| “Your Catholic, Christian, and Slovak conscience compels you”: Religious Arguments | 179 |
| Russians, Not Monsters: Tackling the Bolshevik Bogey | 186 |

Chapter Four:

| | |
|--|-----|
| “We will manage our own affairs”: The Soviet Union and Broadcasting the Future of Czechoslovakia | 196 |
| Neither Hell nor Paradise: 1940 to June 1941 | 198 |
| “Our Brother Slavs”: June 1941 to 1943 | 201 |
| When Propaganda Diverges from Policy: Mid-1943 Onwards | 208 |
| “If it doesn’t work, it will not be our fault”: The Changing Representation of Poland and the Central European Confederation | 208 |
| “Subcarpathian Ruthenia is Czechoslovak”: Broadcasting to a Lost Territory | 218 |

| | |
|--------------------|-----|
| Conclusions | 247 |
|--------------------|-----|

| | |
|-------------------------|-----|
| Bibliography of Sources | 253 |
|-------------------------|-----|

| | |
|-------|-----|
| Index | 264 |
|-------|-----|