

Contents

List of contributors vii

Introduction: On the methodology of the research on case-based reasoning in constitutional adjudication 1
MONIKA FLORCZAK-WĄTOR

PART I

Supreme courts in the common law system 7

1 The Supreme Court of the United States: legitimate law-maker and constitutional interpreter 9
PAWEŁ LAIDLER

2 The Supreme Court of Canada: The road to authority, legitimacy and independence 32
BRADFORD W. MORSE AND KIMIA JALILVAND

3 Precedents and case-based reasoning in the case law of the High Court of Australia 57
SELENA BATEMAN AND ADRIENNE STONE

PART II

Constitutional courts in the civil law system 81

4 The role of precedents and case law in the jurisprudence of the German Federal Constitutional Court 83
RUTH WEBER AND LAURA WITTMANN

5	Precedents and case-based reasoning in the case law of the Hungarian Constitutional Court	106
	ZOLTÁN POZSÁR-SZENTMIKLÓSY
6	Precedents and case-based reasoning in the adjudications of the Italian Constitutional Court	118
	GIOVANNI CAVAGGION
7	Precedents and case-based reasoning in constitutional adjudication: the Republic of Latvia	138
	ANITA RODIŅA
8	Precedents and case-based reasoning in the case law of the Constitutional Tribunal of the Republic of Poland	162
	PIOTR CZARNY AND MONIKA FLORCZAK-WĄTOR
9	The role of precedents and case-based reasoning in the case law of the Romanian Constitutional Court	185
	BIANCA SELEJAN-GUȚAN AND ELENA-SIMINA TĂNĂSESCU
PART III
	International courts in the European law system	209
10	Court of Justice of the European Union—‘stone-by-stone’ case-based reasoning	211
	ALICJA SIKORA
11	Precedent in the system of the European Convention on Human Rights	233
	KRZYSZTOF WOJTYCZEK
PART IV
	Comparative analysis	251
12	The role of precedents and case-based reasoning in constitutional adjudication: A comparative study	253
	MONIKA FLORCZAK-WĄTOR
	Index	277