Contents

Acknowledgements viii
Introduction ix

Part 1 Models and tools for reflection 1

Theme 1 Beginnings 3

1.1 Starting something new 4
1.2 The 'metaphorical mirror' 6
1.3 Motivation 8
1.4 Investing time in reflection 10
1.5 How I learn best 13

Theme 2 Starting to write reflectively 17

2.1 How do I know if I am writing reflectively? 18
2.2 The purpose of reflective writing 20
2.3 It's all about the RAS 22
2.4 A structure for reflective writing 23
2.5 Dialogical writing 25

Theme 3 Learning from experience 29

3.1 ERA model 30
3.2 Driscoll's 'What?' model 31
3.3 Kolb's Experiential Learning Cycle 33
3.4 Progression and regression 35
3.5 Problematic experiences or positive ones? 37

Theme 4 The practice of reflection 40

4.1 What does it mean to be a professional? 41
4.2 Reflection-on-action and reflection-in-action 44

4.3	Critical incident analysis	46
4.4	Four critical lenses for reflective practice	48
4.5	Learning from feedback	51
Theme 5	Building resilience	54
5.1	What is resilience?	55
5.2	Self-care	58
5.3	Coping with memories and feelings	59
5.4	Processing feelings	62
5.5	Growth and development	63
Theme 6	Working with assumptions	67
6.1	A pedagogy of discomfort	68
6.2	Reflection, reflectivity and reflexivity	71
6.3	Argyris' Ladder of Inference	73
6.4	Take nothing for granted	76
6.5	Double-loop learning	78
Theme 7	Ethics and values	82
7.1	Ethics and values – what's the difference?	83
7.2	Transactional Analysis drivers	86
7.3	Me, my, more, must – a values-based model	88
7.4	Striving for anti-discriminatory practice	91
7.5	Who holds the power in professional relationships?	93
Theme 8	Reflecting with others	95
8.1	Models of supervision	96
8.2	How to engage effectively with supervision	99
8.3	The reflective conversation	100
8.4	Reflecting in groups	103
8.5	Action learning sets	106

Theme 9 Creativity in reflective practice 108
9.1 Professional practice as artistry 109
9.2 Letter writing 110
9.3 Using visuals in reflection 112
9.4 Listening to my own voice 114
9.5 From 'patches to quilts' 117

Theme 10 Reflective practice for personal and professional well-being 119
10.1 Building professional confidence 120
10.2 Managing change 122
10.3 Managing stress 125
10.4 The Integrated Reflective Cycle 127
10.5 Composting reflections 129

Part 2 More space for reflection 133

Part 3 Career development 147

Bibliography 168
Index 171