

CONTENTS

List of Figures	x
List of Tables	xi
List of Contributors	xii
1 Introduction to Chinese Legality: Ideology, Law, and Institutions Shiping Hua	1
PART 1
How Is Legality Defined? Theories and Ideologies	9
2 Rule of Law With Chinese Characteristics Jeffrey E. Thomas	11
3 A Hundred Schools of Thought Contending on Constitutionalism—The Short Life of the Great Debate of Constitutionalism Remembered Guobin Zhu	26
4 Legalism and Xi Jinping Thought: Han Fei's Influence on Contemporary Chinese Politics and Law Haig Patapan	52

PART 2

How Is Legality Reflected and Embodied in Laws?

5 Dashed Hopes? The Limits of International Economic Norms in Promoting the Rule of Law in China
Ming Du

6 Legality of Chinese Extraterritorial Jurisdiction
Zheng Sophia Tang and Xinxin Zhang

7 Civil Rights Chinese Style: The Politics and Ideology of the New Civil Code
Shiping Hua

PART 3

How Is Legality Realized? Institutions in Action

8 Can Xi Jinping Stop the Bureaucrats From Seeking Rents via Legislation?
Chun-Chih Chang and Chien-Min Chao

9 Politics, Law, and Policing in Reform Era China
Suzanne E. Scoggins

10 Legality and the Hong Kong Protests
Stephan Ortmann

11 Policing the Police, Party, and State: Corruption and Anti-Corruption in China
Andrew Wedeman

12 Legality of Reprimand and Contest of Public Trust Amid the Pandemic: The Case of the Inadvertent Whistleblower Li Wenliang
Bin Liang

PART 4
Conclusion

219

13 Chinese Law in a Comparative Context
Michael R. Fowler

221

Index

248