
Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
Introduction: reacting to reality television	1
1 Reality television: from representation to intervention	21
2 Performance and the value of personhood	48
3 Textual intimacies	80
4 Reacting to reality television: methodology	113
5 Affect and ambiguity, not governmentality	134
6 From affect to authority: the making of the moral person	159
7 The productive person: recognizing labour and value	187
8 Conclusions: intimacy, ideology, value and politics	215
Index	237