

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PART I. GOVERNMENTAL FINANCE IN CONNECTICUT

	Page
CHAPTER I. GOVERNMENTAL BUDGET BALANCES IN CONNECTICUT	3
Introduction	3
The broad problem of governmental finance	3
Accounting terminology	4
Organization of Connecticut government	6
State finance, 1927-28 to 1932-33	6
Definitions of technical terms	6
State budget balances, 1927-28 to 1932-33	9
State indebtedness, 1922-23 to 1933-34	10
State finance during 1933-34	11
The problem of state finance	12
County finance, 1927-28 to 1932-33	14
Introduction	14
County budget balances, 1927-28 to 1932-33	14
County debt, 1922 and 1933	15
The problem of county finance	17
Municipal finance, 1920, 1924, 1928, and 1932	18
Nature of the data	18
Municipal budget balances, 1920, 1924, 1928, and 1932	18
Municipal indebtedness, 1920, 1924, 1928, and 1932	22
The problem of municipal finance	23
Summary	24
State finance	24
County finance	26
Municipal finance	26
CHAPTER II. GOVERNMENTAL EXPENDITURES IN CONNECTICUT	29
Limitations of the Commission's assignment	29
The state government	29
General functional analysis	29
Capital outlays	31
Operating expenses	34
State expenditures during 1933-34	34
County governments	36
Municipal governments	38
All reporting municipalities	38
Cities and boroughs	42
Unconsolidated towns	44
Municipal expenditures after 1932	46
Consolidated expenditures of all Connecticut governments	47
Accounting for duplications	47
Purposes and trends, 1928 and 1932	48
Twenty-year trend, 1912 to 1932	52
Need of reduction and control of expenditures	54
Summary	56
State expenditures	56
County expenditures	57
Municipal expenditures	58
Consolidated state and local expenditures	59
Need for reduction and control of state and local expenditures	59

	Page
CHAPTER III. GOVERNMENTAL REVENUES IN CONNECTICUT	61
Introduction	61
State revenues	61
Sources of state income, 1927-28 to 1932-33	61
Trends of state income, 1927-28 to 1932-33	66
From 1927-28 to 1930-31	66
From 1930-31 to 1932-33	67
State income, 1933-34	67
County revenues	68
Municipal revenues	70
Sources of municipal revenues, 1920 to 1932	70
Trends of municipal revenues, 1920 to 1932	73
Consolidated state and local revenues	75
The burden of taxation on real property	77
Summary	84
State revenues	84
County revenues	85
Municipal revenues	86
Consolidated state and local revenues	87
The burden of taxation on real property	87

PART II. THE FINANCING OF MUNICIPALITIES

CHAPTER IV. THE RELATIONSHIP OF THE MUNICIPALITIES TO THE STATE
GOVERNMENT	91
Importance of municipal finance	91
Legal status of municipalities	91
The policy of local autonomy	92
Local government on trial	92
Problems of local autonomy	93
Complexity of municipal activities	93
Complexity of municipal organization	94
Lack of measures of efficiency	95
Necessity of adequate fiscal procedures	95
Shortcomings of state legislation	96
Lack of consistent policy	96
Defects of extreme "home rule"	96
General principles	97
Aims of Commission's proposals	97
Statement of general principles	97
Summary	97
CHAPTER V. MUNICIPAL FISCAL YEARS AND TAX DUE DATES	99
Governmental fiscal years	99
Statutory provisions	99
Diversity of municipal fiscal years	99
Consequences of diversity	101
A uniform fiscal year ending June 30	102
Election dates	102
Recommendations	103
Relation of tax due dates and fiscal years	103
The problem	103
Statutes governing tax due dates	104

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xiii

	Page
Present situation as to tax due dates and fiscal years	104
Effect of installment tax payments	108
Effects of elapsed periods on municipal finance	108
Necessity of tax-anticipation borrowing	108
Estimated amount of tax-anticipation borrowing	109
Effects upon municipal debt	111
The remedy	113
Financing the reform in tax due dates	114
The cost	114
Should each municipality bear its own cost?	116
Proposed plan of financing	116
Cost of proposed plan to the state government	120
Procedure during the transitional period	121
Eventual time schedule of municipal financing	123
Recommendations	124
Summary	125
Governmental fiscal years	125
Relation of tax due dates and fiscal years	126
 CHAPTER VI. MUNICIPAL BUDGETING	 128
Administrative organization of municipal finance	128
Introduction	128
Constitutional provisions	128
State participation in municipal finance	129
Powers and duties of municipalities: The problem of divided responsibility	 129
Powers and duties of state agencies	132
Municipal agencies participating in municipal finance	132
In general	132
In towns without boards of finance	133
In towns with boards of finance	135
Criticism	137
Conclusions	143
Procedure in municipal budgeting	143
Definition of the subject	143
Preparation of the budget	144
In towns without boards of finance	144
In towns with boards of finance	145
Legislation of the budget	149
In towns without boards of finance	149
In towns with boards of finance	151
Execution of the budget: Control of appropriations	154
The problem in general	154
Penalties for exceeding appropriations	155
Allotments of appropriations	156
Transfer of appropriations	156
Lapsing of appropriations	158
Summary and recommendations	158
Administrative organization	158
Procedure in municipal budgeting	159
Mandatory and optional application	161
Recommendations	162
Organization	162
Procedure	162
Preparation of the budget	162
Legislation of the budget	164
Execution of the budget: Control of appropriations	166

	Page
CHAPTER VII. MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTING, AUDITING, REPORTING, AND CUSTODY OF FUNDS	168
Municipal accounting	168
Requirements of an accounting system	168
Weaknesses of municipal accounting in Connecticut	168
Decentralization	168
Lack of uniformity	170
Defects in the procedure for preauditing claims	172
Inadequate control of commitments	174
Inadequate control of revenues	174
Recommendations	175
Municipal auditing	177
Statutory provisions	177
Criticism	178
The need of more state supervision and control	179
Recommendations	180
Bonding of municipal officers	181
Statutory provisions	181
Criticism	181
Recommendations	182
Custody of municipal funds	182
Statutory provisions	182
Criticism	183
Recommendations	186
Municipal reporting	187
Importance of reporting	187
Statutory provisions	187
Criticism	187
Recommendations	188
State supervision of local finance	189
Inevitability of state participation in local finance	189
The nature of state participation in local finance	189
Recommendations	192
Summary	192
Accounting	192
Auditing	193
Bonding of municipal officials	193
Custody of municipal funds	194
Municipal reporting	194
State supervision of local finance	194
CHAPTER VIII. MUNICIPAL INDEBTEDNESS	196
The problem of municipal indebtedness	196
Municipal debt limitation in Connecticut	196
Authorization of indebtedness	196
Purposes for which debt may be incurred	199
Terms of issue	201
Maturities	201
Rate of interest	204
Other terms of issue	204
Limitations upon amount of indebtedness	205
The receivership law	207
The growth of municipal debt	208
Criticism of existing law	212
In general	212
Authorization of debt	212
Purposes of borrowing	213

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xv

	Page
Terms of issue	213
The aggregate debt limit	214
Proposed municipal debt code	216
Authorization of debt	216
Budgetary provisions for borrowing	217
Non-budgetary borrowing	218
Borrowing on account of failure of revenues and additional appropriations	218
Tax-anticipation borrowing	219
Maturities and interest rates	220
The debt limit	220
Municipal receivership	225
Other provisions	226
Summary and recommendations	226

PART III. THE PRESENT SYSTEM OF STATE AND LOCAL TAXES

CHAPTER IX. THE GENERAL PROPERTY TAX: EXEMPTIONS	233
Relation of the general property tax to the tax system	233
All property taxable unless specifically exempted	234
Illegal exemptions	235
Technical exemptions	235
True exemptions	236
In general	236
Property owned and used by governments	236
Privately owned property used for quasi-public purposes	237
Property of soldiers, sailors, and the blind	238
Property constituting a minimum of subsistence	238
Statistics	239
The problem	240
Government property	240
Privately owned property	241
Inadequacies of principle	241
Weaknesses of administration	243
Conclusions	244
Summary and recommendations	247
CHAPTER X. THE GENERAL PROPERTY TAX: ASSESSMENT	251
Taxable property	251
Definitions	251
Rules of situs	251
Rules of valuation	252
Assessment procedure	253
Original assessments	253
Assessors	253
Listing	253
Valuation	255
Review of assessments	255
Local boards of relief	255
Powers and duties of boards of relief	256
Appeals on assessments	257
From decisions of boards of relief	257
From arbitrary and excessive assessments	257
State supervision of assessment	258
State board of equalization	258
Tax commissioner	258

	Page
Assessment results	259
The grand list	259
Appraisal of assessments	263
Available tests	263
Real property	264
Personal property	267
Criticism and conclusions	269
Character of remedy proposed	269
Simplification of the grand list	270
Unimportant classes of personal property	270
Household furnishings	274
Motor vehicles and aircraft	277
Combined effects	281
Changes in rules and procedure	282
Rules of assessment	282
Rules of situs	282
Rules of valuation	283
Assessment of tangible personal property	285
In general	285
Business inventories	287
Machinery and equipment	289
Public utility distribution systems	290
Administrative procedure	291
Assessment of real property	293
Assessment calendar	293
Listing	294
Valuation	295
Tax maps	296
Reform of administrative organization	297
Assessors	297
Local boards of relief	298
State board of tax appeals	301
State supervision of assessments	303
Summary	303
Recommendations	307
Taxable property	307
Rules of assessment	308
Assessment procedure	310
Administrative organization	311
 CHAPTER XI. THE GENERAL PROPERTY TAX: COLLECTION	 313
The present law	313
The tax collector	313
Tax due dates	315
Abatement and transfer to suspense book	315
Collection procedure	316
Collection of non-delinquent taxes	316
Collection of delinquent taxes	317
Procedures of enforcement	317
Foreclosure of liens upon real property	317
Collection by ordinary suit	319
Levy and sale or commitment	319
Settlement with the treasurer	321
Records and reports of the collector	321
The growth of tax delinquency	322
Causes of tax delinquency and proposed remedies	325
In general	325
Selection and compensation of collectors	326

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xvii

	Page
Billing of taxpayers	328
Tax due dates	328
Penalties for delinquency	329
Abatement of taxes	330
The continuance of tax liens	330
Summary collection processes	333
The problem of back taxes	335
Summary and recommendations	336
 CHAPTER XII. THE PERSONAL TAX AND SPECIAL PROPERTY TAXES	 342
The personal tax	342
Description	342
History	343
Yield	344
Appraisal	345
Enumeration	345
Collection	346
Conclusions	347
Recommendations	348
Special property taxes	348
Introduction	348
Forest taxation	349
Exemption of tree plantations	349
Special forest tax law of 1913	350
Classification act of 1929	351
Appraisal of forest tax legislation and conclusions	351
Taxes on shellfish grounds	352
Description of the state tax	352
History	352
Conclusions	353
The choses-in-action tax	354
History	354
Scope of the tax	354
Effectiveness of the tax	356
Other criticisms	359
Recommendation	360
The estate penalty tax	360
Description	360
History	361
Yield	361
Criticism	362
Recommendation	363
Gross earnings taxes on transportation and communication com- panies	 363
History	363
Description of present taxes	365
Local property taxes	365
State taxes on gross earnings	366
Theory	367
Yield	367
Conclusions	369
Basic structure	369
Tax rates	369
The tax base	370
Local property taxes and tax offsets	371
Motor bus taxes	372
Car company taxes	372
Recommendations	374

	Page
Summary	375
The personal tax	375
Special property taxes	375
Forest taxation	375
Taxes on shellfish grounds	376
The choses-in-action tax	376
The estate penalty tax	377
Gross earnings taxes on transportation and communication companies	378
 CHAPTER XIII. THE TAXATION OF INSURANCE COMPANIES	381
Introduction	381
Description of present taxes	381
Local taxes	381
State taxes	382
Alien companies	382
Foreign companies	383
Domestic mutual companies	383
Domestic stock companies	383
History	384
Taxation of domestic insurance company stock	384
The franchise tax on stock companies	385
Taxes on mutual companies	386
Taxes on foreign and alien companies	387
Yield of state taxes	388
Distribution of the stock tax	388
Principles of insurance company taxation	391
Criticism of existing taxes	392
Inequality in tax burdens among groups of companies	392
Inequalities among domestic stock companies	393
Instability of revenues	393
Distribution of the stock tax	394
The business tax	394
The tax on account of property	395
The problem of the tax base	395
The taxable property	395
An ad valorem tax on intangible assets	396
Premiums as a measure of property values	397
Investment income as a tax base	398
Advantages	398
The problem of shifts in tax burden	398
Adjustment by means of a rate differential	400
The rates of the tax on investment income	401
The problem	401
Tax burdens on other groups in the state	401
Insurance taxes in other states	402
Tax burdens under the existing system: Conclusions	404
Estimated yield of proposed taxes	404
Corollary conclusions	405
Summary and recommendations	406
 CHAPTER XIV. THE TAXATION OF BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES AND MISCELLANEOUS FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS	410
Banks and trust companies	410
In general	410
The bank stock tax	410

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xix

	Page
Description	410
History	411
Yield	412
Federal limitations on the taxation of national banks	413
Theory of bank taxes	415
Available methods of taxing national banks	416
The share tax	416
The tax on dividends	418
The tax upon net income	420
The franchise or excise tax	421
Conclusions	425
The taxation of bank deposits	426
Description of the savings deposits tax	426
Legal status of the savings deposits tax	427
History of Connecticut deposits taxes	428
Yield of the savings deposits tax	429
Criticism of the savings deposits tax	429
Conclusions	431
Local taxes	433
Summary of proposed changes in bank taxes and their probable fiscal effects	433
Recommendations	435
Miscellaneous financial corporations	436
Introduction	436
Taxes on building and loan associations	436
The taxation of investment and other financial companies	437
Recommendations	438
Unincorporated financial concerns	438
Summary	439
Banks and trust companies	439
The bank stock tax	439
The taxation of bank deposits	441
Miscellaneous financial corporations	442
Unincorporated financial concerns	443
 CHAPTER XV. BUSINESS TAXES ON MERCANTILE AND MANUFACTURING CONCERNS AND LOCAL PUBLIC UTILITIES	 444
Historical and theoretical background	444
Taxation of miscellaneous corporations	447
The corporation net income tax	447
The taxpaying corporations	447
The tax base	448
The tax rate	449
Administration	450
History	450
Yield	451
Theory of the corporation net income tax	452
Criticism	453
Instability of yield	453
Concentration of the tax burden	453
Allocation of net income	454
A broader concept of net income	455
Denying deductions for interest and rental payments	455
Including tax-exempt income in gross income	457
Results	457
The taxation of invested capital	457
Allocation of the tax base	458
Recommendations	459

	Page
The unincorporated business tax	460
Scope of the tax	460
The tax base	461
The tax rate	461
Administration	461
History and purpose	462
Yield	462
Appraisal	464
Recommendations	465
Local public utilities	465
Application	465
The tax base	466
Administration	466
History	466
Yield	467
Appraisal	467
Recommendations	469
Summary	469
Theoretical background	469
Taxation of miscellaneous corporations	470
The corporation net income tax	470
The taxation of invested capital	471
Allocation of the tax base	472
The unincorporated business tax	472
Local public utilities	473
 CHAPTER XVI. SPECIAL MOTOR VEHICLE TAXES	 474
Nature and theory of motor vehicle taxes	474
Principal problems	474
Aggregate amount to be raised	474
Gasoline tax and registration tax	478
Apportionment among motor vehicles in general	479
The special problem of commercial motor vehicles	482
Conclusions	484
The gasoline tax	485
Description	485
History	487
Yield	487
Conclusions	488
Motor vehicle license taxes	489
Description	489
History	490
Yield	491
Criticism	492
Bases of the registration taxes	492
Rate of the registration taxes	494
Proration	496
Conclusions	496
Motor bus taxes	497
Summary and recommendations	500
Nature and theory of motor vehicle taxes	500
The gasoline tax	502
Motor vehicle license taxes	503
Motor bus taxes	504
Recommendations	505

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xxi

	Page
CHAPTER XVII. DEATH TAXES, LIQUOR TAXES, AND AMUSEMENT TAXES .	507
Death taxes	507
Two types of death taxes	507
Description of Connecticut death taxes	508
The succession tax	508
The estate tax	509
History	510
The succession tax	510
The nonresident transfer tax	512
The estate tax	513
Yield	513
Appraisal	514
General structure	514
Exemptions	514
Control of safe deposit boxes	515
Recommendations	516
Liquor taxes	516
General theory	516
Description of Connecticut liquor taxes	517
Relationship to business taxes	518
Yield	518
Criticism	519
The proposed excise tax	521
Recommendations	523
Amusement taxes	524
Description of the Connecticut taxes	524
Seating capacity tax	524
Tax on admissions to boxing and wrestling matches	525
History	525
The admissions tax	525
Boxing and wrestling admissions tax	526
Film tax	527
Seating capacity tax	527
Yield	528
Criticism	528
Boxing and wrestling admissions tax	528
The seating capacity tax	530
The proposed excise tax on general admissions	530
Recommendations	531
Summary	532
Death taxes	532
Liquor taxes	533
Amusement taxes	534

PART IV. THE REDISTRIBUTION OF THE TAX BURDEN

CHAPTER XVIII. STATE ASSISTANCE IN LOCAL FINANCING	537
State assistance in general	537
State assistance in Connecticut	538
State-administered and locally shared taxes	538
State grants for specified local activities	539
Transfers of local functions	542
Total amount of direct state financial assistance	544

	Page
Criticism and proposed changes	545
The problem of policy	545
State-administered and locally shared taxes	547
State grants for specified local activities	550
Education	550
Highways	553
Charities, hospitals, and corrections	555
Institutional care	555
Non-institutional charitable relief	557
Elimination of state and military taxes	562
Summary and recommendations	562
State assistance in general	562
State assistance in Connecticut	563
Criticism and proposed changes	564
Recommendations	566
 CHAPTER XIX. NEW SOURCES OF REVENUE	 568
Additional revenues required	568
Taxes on incomes of natural persons	569
General personal income taxes	569
General classified personal income taxes	575
Taxation of interest and dividends	577
Taxes on sales or consumption	581
General sales taxes	581
Selective sales taxes	586
Summary and recommendations	589
Additional revenues required	589
Taxes on incomes of natural persons	589
Taxes on sales or consumption	591
Recommendations	592
 CHAPTER XX. FISCAL EFFECTS OF THE COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATIONS	 594
The basic estimates	594
Effects on state financing	595
Classification of state funds	595
All civil list funds	596
General fund	598
Highway fund	601
Miscellaneous public expendable funds	601
Expenditures for permanent improvements	602
Effects on county financing	605
Effects on municipal financing	606
Summary	609
Introduction	609
Effects on state financing	609
Effects on county financing	611
Effects on municipal financing	611
 CHAPTER XXI. SUMMARY OF THE PROGRAM	 613