

CONTENTS

	Preface and Acknowledgments	xi
	Chronology	xiii
	Invented Traditions in Korea—Contention and Internationalization	1
	Andrew David Jackson
PART I	REIMAGINING TRADITION: HISTORY AND RELIGION	41
	Introduction by Remco Breuker
Chapter 1	Authenticating the Past: Filling in Gaps with the Tan'gi kosa	52
	Remco Breuker
Chapter 2	Enticement of Ancient Empire: Historicized Mythology and (Post)colonial Conspiracies in the Construction of Korean Pseudohistory	76
	Andrew Logie
Chapter 3	Imagining Ancient Korean Religion: Söndo, Tan'gun, and the Earth Goddess	114
	Don Baker

PART II	REWRITING TRADITION: LANGUAGE	139
	Introduction by Andrew David Jackson and Remco Breuker
Chapter 4	The Language of the “Nation of Propriety in the East” (東方禮儀之國)? The Ideological History of the Korean Culture of Politeness	149
	Eunseon Kim
Chapter 5	Re-invented in Translation? Korean Literature in Literary Chinese as One Epitome of Endangered Cultural Heritage	176
	Andreas Schirmer
PART III	CONSUMING AND PERFORMING TRADITION: MUSIC, FOOD, AND CRAFTS	219
	Introduction by CedarBough Saeji
Chapter 6	Split-Bamboo Comb: Heritage, Memory, and the Space In-between	229
	Laurel Kendall
Chapter 7	Tradition as Construction: Embedding Form in Two Korean Music Genres	254
	Keith Howard
Chapter 8	Making Masters, Staging Genealogy: Full-Length P’ansori as an Invented Tradition	279
	Jan Creutzenberg
Chapter 9	The State Leader as Inventor of Food Traditions in the DPRK	304
	Maria Osetrova
PART IV	EMBODYING TRADITION: SPACES	333
	Introduction by Codruța Sîntionean
Chapter 10	Spatializing Tradition: The Remaking of Historic Sites under Park Chung Hee	339
	Codruța Sîntionean

Chapter 11	Rematerializing the Political Past: The Annual Schoolchildren's March and North Korean Invented Traditions	368
	Robert Winstanley-Chesters
	Contributors	399
	Index	403