

Contents

List of Illustrations	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
Note on the Contributors	x
1 Introduction: Modernism and Anti-Theatricality Alan Ackerman and Martin Puchner	1
Part I Frames
2 Avant-Garde Scenography and the Frames of the Theatre Arnold Aronson	21
3 Clown Shows: Anti-Theatricalist Theatricalism in Four Twentieth-Century Plays Elinor Fuchs	39
4 Anti-Theatricality in Twentieth-Century Opera Herbert Lindenberger	58
5 'All the Frame's a Stage': (Anti-)Theatricality and Cinematic Modernism Charlie Keil	76
Part II Materials
6 Anti-Theatricality and the Limits of Naturalism Kirk Williams	95
7 Deploying/Destroying the Primitivist Body in Hurston and Brecht Elin Diamond	112
8 John Cage's Living Theatre Marjorie Perloff	133
9 Mallarmé, Maeterlinck and the Symbolist Via Negativa of Theatre Patrick McGuinness	149