

Contents

Acknowledgments.....vii

The Stuff of Politics: An Introduction ix

Bruce Braun and Sarah J. Whatmore

Part I. Rematerializing Political Theory:

Things Forcing Thought

1. Including Nonhumans in Political Theory:

Opening Pandora's Box? 3

Isabelle Stengers

2. Thing-Power 35

Jane Bennett

3. Materiality, Experience, and Surveillance 63

William E. Connolly

Part II. Technological Politics:

Affective Objects and Events

4. Materialist Politics: Metallurgy 89

Andrew Barry

5. Plastic Materialities 119

Gay Hawkins

6. Halos: Making More Room in the World for New Political Orders 139

Nigel Thrift

Part III. Political Technologies:

Public (Dis)Orderings

7. Front-staging Nonhumans:
Publicity as a Constraint on the Political Activity of Things 177

Noortje Marres

8. The Political Technology of RU486: Time for the Body and Democracy	211
Rosalyn Diprose
9. Infrastructure and Event: The Political Technology of Preparedness.....	243
Andrew Lakoff and Stephen J. Collier
10. Faitiche -izing the People: What Representative Democracy Might Learn from Science Studies	267
Lisa Disch
Contributors	297
Index	301