

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	4
1 LEARNING ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE	7
1.2 Foreign Language Performance as Reflected in Reading Comprehension	8
1.2.1 Strategies for the Development of Reading Comprehension	12
1.3 Models of Linguistic Competence. Theoretical Framework	15
1.4 Linguistic Competence, Grammar Knowledge and Reading Comprehension	17
1.4.1 Foreign Language and Learning of Grammar and Lexis	21
2 INVESTIGATING THE FACTOR OF WILLINGNESS TO COMMUNICATE	24
2.1 Dynamic Factors of Willingness to Communicate	27
2.2 Time and Temporal Fluctuation in Willingness to Communicate	28
2.3 The of Role of Foreign Language Anxiety in L2 Communication	29
2.4 Language Performance and Motivation to Learn a Foreign Language	33
2.5 Psycho-cognitive Factors of Learning a Foreign Language	36
3 FOREIGN LANGUAGE PERFORMANCE ASSESSMENT	43
3.1 Linguistic Development in Foreign Languages of Adolescent Learners	43
3.2 Specifications of B1 Proficiency Level as Framed in CEFR	44
3.3 Specifications of B2 Proficiency Level as Framed in CEFR	47
4 PRACTICAL EXAMPLES OF RESEARCH IN FOREIGN LANGUAGE EDUCATION	50
4.1 Experimental Research in Educational Settings	55
4.2 Examining Selected Aspects of Foreign Language Performance	59
4.3 The Factor of Willingness to Communicate: Hypotheses and the Research Tool	63
4.4 The Results of the Measurements of the Selected Variables of The Factor of Linguistic Competence and WTC	67
5 DISCUSSION	87
6 EXAMPLES OF THE SELECTED ACTIVITIES OF A LESSON PLAN	91
6.1 Home by Warsan Shire, simplified, shortened	98
CONCLUSION	100
REFERENCES	103