Preface	xi
1. What Is Evaluation?	1
Basic Definitions	1
Fitting Evaluation Approach to Purpose	3
The Steps Involved	3
The Ingredients of a Good Evaluation	5
Identifying the Evaluand, Its Background, and Its Context	8
Advice for Choosing Your First Evaluation Project	9
2. Defining the Purpose of the Evaluation	13
Evaluations for Determining Overall Quality or Value	14
Evaluations for Finding Areas for Improvement	16
Helping a New Evaluand Find Its Feet	17
Improving a Mature Evaluand	17
Questions About Absolute Versus Relative Quality or Value	18
Summary and Final Comments	20
3. Identifying Evaluative Criteria	23
Why Not Just Use Goals?	24
Identifying Criteria: Basic Concepts and Tools	27
Needs Assessment Fundamentals	29
Identifying Consumers or Impactees	30
Needs Versus Wants	33
The Context Dependence of Needs	34
Different Kinds of Needs	35
Needs Assessment Methods: A Two-Phase Approach	37
Identifying and Documenting Performance Needs	37
Investigating the Underlying Causes of Performance Needs	38

Needs Assessment Design, Strategies, and Methods: A Simple Example	42
Needs Assessment Design, Strategies, and Methods: Options for More Complex Cases	45
Identifying Other Relevant Criteria	47
4. Organizing the Criteria and Identifying Potential Sources of Evidence	53
The Importance of Choosing Multiple Sources of Evidence	54
The Process Evaluation Checkpoint	56
The Outcome Evaluation Checkpoint	58
The Comparative Cost-Effectiveness Checkpoint	59
The Exportability Checkpoint	63
5. Dealing With the Causation Issue	67
Certainty About Causation	68
Inferring Causation: Basic Principles	70
Inferring Causation: Eight Strategies	71
Strategy 1: Ask Observers	71
Strategy 2: Check Whether the Content of the Evaluand Matches the Outcome	74
Strategy 3: Look for Other Telltale Patterns That Suggest One Cause or Another	75
Strategy 4: Check Whether the Timing of Outcomes Makes Sense	76
Strategy 5: Check Whether the “Dose” Is Related Logically to the “Response”	78
Strategy 6: Make Comparisons With a “Control” or “Comparison” Group	79
Strategy 7: Control Statistically for Extraneous Variables	79
Strategy 8: Identify and Check the Underlying Causal Mechanism(s)	80
Choosing a Blend of Strategies to Address the Causation Issue	81
6. “Values” in Evaluation	85
The Controversy	87
The Three Types of Subjectivity	89
Subjective 1: Inappropriate Application of Personal or Cultural Preferences/Biases	89
Subjective 2: Informed Judgment	90
Subjective 3: “About My Life”	91

The Red Herring: Subjective Measures Versus Objective Measures	91
The Tensions Between Subjectivism and Common Sense	92
Where Do the “Values” in an Evaluation Come From?	94
7. Determining Importance	99
Determining Importance: What and Why	100
Determining the Importance of Dimensions or Criteria of Merit	101
Determining the Importance of Evaluand Components	101
Determining When to Use Dimensional Versus Component Versus Holistic Evaluation	103
Determining Importance: Six Strategies	105
Strategy 1: Having Stakeholders or Consumers “Vote” on Importance	105
Strategy 2: Drawing on the Knowledge of Selected Stakeholders	107
Strategy 3: Using Evidence From the Literature	109
Strategy 4: Using Specialist Judgment	111
Strategy 5: Using Evidence From the Needs and Values Assessments	112
Strategy 6: Using Program Theory and Evidence of Causal Linkages	118
Strengths and Weaknesses of the Six Strategies	125
8. The Merit Determination Step	131
Determining Merit: What and Why	132
Merit Determination Using a Single Quantitative Measure	132
Merit Determination With Qualitative or Multiple Measures	133
Merit Determination and the Futility of Seeking Precision	134
Using Rubrics for Determining “Absolute” Merit	137
Developing Rubrics in a Participatory Evaluation	138
Sample Grading Rubric 1	138
Sample Grading Rubric 2	140
Using Rubrics for Determining “Relative” Merit	140
“Grading on the Curve”	140
Standardized Tests	143

Relative Merit and Experimental and Quasi-Experimental Designs	143
Using Comparisons to Determine Relative Merit	145
Making Practical Use of Merit Determination Rubrics	146
9. Synthesis Methodology	151
Synthesis: What and Why	152
Erroneous Arguments
Against Doing Synthesis at All	152
The Need for Synthesis at Multiple Points in the Evaluation	153
The Role of Costs and Comparisons in Synthesis	154
Synthesizing for "Grading"	155
A Quantitative (numerical) Weighting Example With "Bars"	156
Qualitative (non-numerical) Weighting Example 1 (with no "bars")	157
Qualitative (non-numerical) Weighting Example 2 (with "hurdles")	166
Synthesizing for "Ranking"	171
Numerical Weight and Sum	172
Qualitative Weight and Sum	177
10. Putting It All Together	189
The KEC Preliminary Checkpoints	190
I. Executive Summary	190
II. Preface	191
III. Methodology	191
The KEC Foundations Checkpoints	192
1. Background and Context	192
2. Descriptions and Definitions	195
3. Consumers	196
4. Resources	196
5. Values	197
The KEC Sub-evaluations Checkpoints	197
6. Process Evaluation	198
7. Outcome Evaluation	199
8 & 9. Comparative Cost-Effectiveness	199
10. Exportability	200
The KEC Conclusions Checkpoints	200
11. Overall Significance	201
12. Recommendations and Explanations (possible)	201

13. Responsibilities (possible)	201
14. Report and Support	202
15. Meta-evaluation	202
11. Meta-evaluation	205
The Five Criteria for Evaluating Evaluations	205
Validity	206
Utility	209
Conduct	210
Credibility	211
Costs	212
Key Points to Remember in Meta-evaluation	213
Other Options for Conducting a Meta-evaluation	214
Formative Meta-evaluation	214
Should I Use Meta-evaluation Myself?	215
Answers to Selected Exercises	221
Chapter 2, Exercise 1	221
Chapter 3, Exercise 1	222
Chapter 6, Exercise 1	222
Chapter 7, Exercise 1	223
Chapter 11, Exercise 2	224
Sample Exam Questions	227
Tips for Students Answering These Exam Questions	227
The Questions	228
A Rubric for Grading Assignment and Exam Questions	229
Suggested Answers to Practice Exam Questions	230
