

Jan Dobeš

“I Have Never Had Any Doubts about Anything or Anyone, and Now I Have No Choice but to Say that I Have Been Wrong All My Life” / The So-called Kolder Commission and the Impact of Its Revelations on the Party Public

15

Klára Pinerová

Justice Unfinished / The Role of the Union of Anti-Fascist Fighters in the Rehabilitation Process in Czechoslovakia (1968–1970)

63

Matěj Křepinský

A New Albania, or Just a Piece of the Socialist Orient? / Propaganda and the So-called Friends of Albania in the Context of Czechoslovak-Albanian Relations at the Turn of the 1950s and 1960s

89

Rosamund Johnston

Věra Šťovíčková at the Microphone / Radio, Politics and Czechoslovak-African Relations in 1958–1968

138

Jaromír Mrňka

Denunciation as a Social Action / The Case of the Innkeeper František Policar

166

Jan Adamec

Sheila Fitzpatrick, Daughter, Historian and “Spy” / On the Scholarly Work of the “Other” Revisionist and Its Czech Reception

193

Discussions

Petr Andreas

Michel Foucault versus the Socialist Man / Interdisciplinarity as a Mainstream of the Humanities?

245

Jaroslav Suk

A Few Comments on the Article by Marek Suk

255

Book Reviews

Jan Rychlík

Czech post-1948 History without a Slovak Context? / On the New Volume of the Great History of the Czech Crown Lands by Jiří Pernes

259

Martin Tichý

An Extraordinary Chronicler of Ordinary Life in the Era of Collectivization

266

Vlastimil Hála

The Prague Spring as an Impulse and Inspiration

272

Tomáš Chrobák

From Distrust to Pragmatic Cooperation / A Comprehensive Picture of Czechoslovak-Yugoslav Relations during the Normalization Era

284

Jan Pelikán

Serbia between Tito and Milošević

291

Filip Jiroušek

Carnival Overtures of the Velvet Revolution

298

Niklas Zimmermann

A Compendium of Places of Memory of the Communist Regime
in the Czech Republic Today

302

Vjačeslav Glazov

Soviet Men out of Focus

307

Annotations

313