

Contents

INTRODUCTION	1
THE CRITICAL DILEMMA	3
The Black American Writer C. W. E. Bigsby	5
White Standards and Negro Writing Richard Gilman	35
Our Mutual Estate: The Literature of the American Negro Theodore Gross	51
THE BLACK VIEW	63
Problems of the Negro Writer Langston Hughes and John A. Williams	65
The Negro Writer: Pitfalls and Compensations William Gardner Smith	71
The Negro in American Culture James Baldwin, Emile Capouya, Lorraine Hansberry, Nat Hentoff, Langston Hughes, Alfred Kazin	79
THE NOVELIST	109
Testing the Color Line — Dunbar and Chesnutt Robert Farnsworth	111
The Lost Potential of Richard Wright Warren French	125
Some examples of Faulknerian Rhetoric in Ellison's 'Invisible Man' Michael Allen	143

An Interview with Ralph Ellison	Ralph Ellison and Allen Geller	153
James Baldwin: Caliban to Prospero	Brian Lee	169
'Another Country': Baldwin's New York Novel	Mike Thelwell	181
Disturber of the Peace: James Baldwin	James Baldwin	199
The Negro Writer and the Communist Party	Wilson Record	217
Contemporary Negro Fiction	Hoyt W. Fuller	229
The Negro Writer as Spokesman	James W. Tuttleton	245
ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS		261
INDEX		269