

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	xiii
Table of Cases	xv
List of Abbreviations	xxvii

Introduction to the Private Enforcement of Competition Law	1
--	---

PART I OVERVIEW OF PRIVATE ENFORCEMENT SYSTEMS

1. Private Enforcement at a Glance	7
1.1 Background and Rationale for Private Enforcement	1.1
1.2 Overview of Existing Systems	1.7
1.2.1 The US System	1.7
1.2.2 The European Approach	1.14
1.2.3 Other Approaches	1.24
(i) Japan	1.25
(ii) UK	1.27
(iii) Brazil	1.30
(iv) Spain	1.31
(v) Germany	1.35
2. The Interaction of Public and Private Enforcement Systems	22
2.1 Public and Private Enforcement	2.1
2.2 Systems Where Private Enforcement Predominates	2.6
2.3 Systems Where Public Enforcement Predominates	2.10
2.4 Areas of Tension between Public and Private Enforcement	2.14
2.4.1 Access to the Competition Agency File	2.15
2.4.2 Leniency and Access to Leniency Documents	2.16
2.4.3 Civil Immunity of Leniency Applicants	2.18
2.4.4 Content of Published Infringement Decisions	2.20

PART II ELEMENTS OF PRIVATE ENFORCEMENT SYSTEMS

3. Judicial Redress Mechanisms	33
3.1 Private Competition Enforcement in Court	3.1
3.2 Competition Remedies Other Than Damages	3.4
3.2.1 Injunctive and Interim Injunctive Relief	3.5
3.2.2 Civil Law Competition Defences	3.12
3.3 Individual Damages Claims	3.24
3.4 Collective Damages Claims	3.27
3.4.1 Opt-In Actions	3.37
(i) Claim Assignment	3.42

3.4.2 Opt-Out Actions	3.47
(i) US	3.55
(ii) Canada	3.59
(iii) Developments in Europe	3.60
3.4.3 Mixed Systems	3.62
(i) UK	3.63
a. Funding arrangements	3.66
b. Certifying opt-out claims	3.68
(ii) The Netherlands	3.84
4. Out-of-Court Redress Schemes	64
4.1 Alternative Dispute Resolution in Competition Cases	4.1
4.2 Voluntary Redress Schemes	4.3
4.3 Alternative Dispute Resolution and Settlement Schemes	4.4
4.4 Arbitration	4.5
5. Claimants and Standing	70
5.1 Recognized Victims of Competition Harm	5.1
5.2 Direct Purchasers	5.4
5.3 Indirect Purchasers	5.6
5.3.1 Indirect Purchasers Should Not Have Standing—the US Experience	5.10
5.3.2 Indirect Purchasers Have Standing—the EU	5.17
5.4 Other Claimants	5.22
6. Ensuring the Effectiveness of Redress Schemes	82
6.1 How to Make Expensive Litigation Affordable	6.1
6.2 Third-Party/Alternative Funding	6.3
6.3 Success-Based Billing	6.15
6.4 Cost Allocation Rules	6.19
6.5 After-the-Event Insurance	6.24
7. Defendants and Liability	90
7.1 Defendants and Their Liability for Competition Damages	7.1
7.2 Identifying the Defendants	7.2
7.3 Fault	7.17
7.4 Individual or Joint and Several Liability	7.22
7.4.1 Contribution Among Defendants	7.25
7.4.2 The Impact of Settlements	7.29
7.4.3 Leniency Applicants	7.35
8. Establishing an Infringement	102
8.1 Competition Infringements as Unlawful Conduct in Tort Law	8.1
8.2 Stand-Alone and Follow-On Claims	8.4
8.3 Effect of Infringement Decisions in Civil Damages Claims	8.11
8.3.1 Public Infringement Decisions Suffice to Establish that an Infringement Occurred in Subsequent Damages Claims	8.12
8.3.2 Infringement Decisions Provide Prima Facie Evidence of an Infringement in Damages Claims	8.18
8.3.3 Infringement Decisions Do Not Have a Special Probative Value	8.22
8.3.4 The Effect of Settlement Decisions	8.25
(i) Germany	8.28
(ii) UK	8.29

8.3.5	The Effect of Commitment Decisions	8.30
8.4	Scope of Infringement Decisions' Effects in Damages Claims	8.36
8.4.1	The Subjective Scope	8.36
8.4.2	The Material Scope	8.40
8.5	Ensuring that Potential Claimants are Aware of Infringement Decisions	8.49
8.6	Limitation Periods	8.54
8.6.1	Date of Infringement	8.59
8.6.2	Knowledge of Infringement	8.61
8.6.3	Following an Infringement Decision	8.67
8.6.4	Absolute Limitation Periods	8.71
9.	Territorial Scope of Private Enforcement	126
9.1	Jurisdictional Questions Regarding Cross-Border Competition Infringements	9.1
9.2	Substantive Competition Law Jurisdiction	9.3
9.3	Procedural Matters Surrounding Territorial Jurisdiction	9.11
9.3.1	Applicable Law	9.13
9.3.2	Seizing Jurisdiction	9.15
9.3.3	Choice of Jurisdiction Agreements	9.19
10.	Rules of Evidence	135
10.1	Factual Inquiries in Private Competition Enforcement	10.1
10.2	Disclosure	10.10
10.2.1	General Rules	10.10
10.2.2	Documents the Disclosure of Which May Be Limited	10.24
(i)	Privileged Documents	10.24
(ii)	Commercially Sensitive Information	10.25
(iii)	Other Documents	10.34
10.3	Expert Evidence	10.35
10.3.1	Case Management of Expert Witnesses	10.41
10.3.2	Appointment of Court Experts	10.47
10.3.3	Developing Judicial Expertise	10.51
10.4	Access to the Competition Enforcement File	10.52
10.4.1	General Rules	10.53
10.4.2	Leniency Documents	10.60
10.4.3	Settlement and Commitment Documents	10.65
11.	Causation	163
11.1	Why Causation Matters	11.1
11.2	Causation in Competition Cases	11.7
11.3	Examples of Rules on Causation	11.21
11.3.1	US	11.21
11.3.2	Europe	11.28
(i)	England and Wales	11.31
(ii)	Germany	11.35
(iii)	Spain	11.39
(iv)	EU	11.40
11.4	Proving Causation	11.44
11.4.1	Basic Rules on the Standard of Proof	11.45
(i)	Civil Law	11.46

(ii) Common Law	11.47
11.4.2 Making it Easier to Prove Causation (and Loss)	11.48
(i) Relaxing the Burden or Standard of Proof	11.49
(ii) Adopting Presumptions of Loss	11.56
(iii) Allowing for Reliance on Contents of Infringement Decisions in Proving Causation	11.59
12. Damages and Their Quantification	186
12.1 The Manifold Challenges with Quantifying Damages	12.1
12.2 Measuring Loss	12.4
12.2.1 General Principles	12.4
12.2.2 Tools to Assist the Measurement of Loss	12.7
(i) Reducing the Burden and Standard of Proof, and Estimating Damages	12.8
(ii) Presumptions	12.14
(iii) Assistance from a Specialized Body	12.16
(iv) Aggregate Loss in Collective Claims	12.17
12.3 Compensatory, Punitive, and Exemplary Damages	12.23
12.3.1 Compensatory Damages	12.23
12.3.2 Punitive and Exemplary Damages	12.26
12.4 Passing On	12.34
12.4.1 Systems That Do Not Take Passing On into Account	12.42
12.4.2 Systems That Take Passing On into Account	12.46
(i) Passing On in Theory and in Practice	12.50
(ii) From Economic to Legal Assessments of Passing On	12.53
(iii) Tools to Facilitate Passing-On Assessments	12.68
12.5 Interest	12.73
12.5.1 Compound or Simple Interest	12.75
12.5.2 Time From Which Interest Starts Accruing	12.80
12.6 Reductions in the Amount of Damages	12.83
13. Economic Methods in Private Competition Enforcement	219
13.1 Legal Causation and Scientific Methods	13.1
13.2 Competition Law and Economic Methods in Practice	13.9
13.3 Different Economic Methods	13.15
13.3.1 Simple Averages Approach	13.19
13.3.2 Comparator Markets	13.23
13.3.3 Regression Modelling	13.27
13.4 Practical Implications	13.29
Bibliography	231
Index	243