▶ QUICK TIP: SUSTAINING A RESEARCH PROJECT ALONE
AND IN GROUPS 19

1 From Topics to Questions 21

1.1 From an Interest to a Topic 22

1.2 From Focused Topic to Research Question 25

1.3 The Most Significant Question: So What? 29

▶ QUICK TIP: FINDING TOPICS 33

2 From Questions to a Problem 35

2.1 Understanding Research Problems 36

2.2 Distinguishing Between “Pure” and “Applied” Research 42

2.3 Connecting Research to Practical Consequences 43

2.4 Finding a Good Research Problem 45

2.5 Learning to Work with Problems 47

▶ QUICK TIP: MAKING AN OPPORTUNITY OF INEXPERIENCE 48

II SOURCES AND RESOURCES

Prologue: Sources and Authentic Research 51

3 Finding and Evaluating Sources 53

- 3.1 Understanding Three Types of Sources 53
- 3.2 Making the Most of the Library 57
- 3.3 Locating Sources Online 63
- 3.4 Evaluating Sources for Relevance and Reliability 65
- 3.5 Looking Beyond Predictable Sources 69
- 3.6 Using People to Further Your Research 69

▶ QUICK TIP: USING GENERATIVE ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE 72

4 Engaging Sources 74

- 4.1 Recording Complete Bibliographic Information 75
- 4.2 Engaging Sources Actively 76
- 4.3 Reading for a Problem 78
- 4.4 Reading for Arguments 81
- 4.5 Reading for Data and Support 83
- 4.6 Taking Notes Systematically 84
- 4.7 Annotating Your Sources 91

▶ QUICK TIP: MANAGING MOMENTS OF UNCERTAINTY 94

III MAKING YOUR ARGUMENT

Prologue: Assembling a Research Argument 97

5 Making Good Arguments: An Overview 101

- 5.1 Argument as Conversation 101
- 5.2 Assembling the Core of Your Argument 102
- 5.3 Explaining Your Reasoning with Warrants 105
- 5.4 Acknowledging and Responding to Anticipated Questions and Objections 106
- 5.5 Planning Your Research Argument 107
- 5.6 Creating Your Ethos 110

▶ QUICK TIP: A COMMON MISTAKE – FALLING BACK ON WHAT YOU KNOW 113

6 Making Claims 114

- 6.1 Determining the Kind of Claim You Should Make 114
