

Contents

Meet the author	vii
Only got a minute?	ix
Only got ten minutes?	xi
Introduction	xv
1 Dobrý den. Jak se máte? Good morning. How are you? Handling first encounters with greetings and responses • Spotting words that are common to Czech and English • Saying I (first person singular)	2
2 Jak se jmenujete? What's your name? Making introductions • Asking where someone comes from • Forming verbs in the present tense	10
3 Kde pracujete? Where do you work? Asking where someone works • Asking what their job is • Using basic kinship terms • Asking about the work of others in the family • Expressing more complex things about work	22
4 Jak bydlíte? What is your house like? Talking about how people live • Saying numbers • Talking about going visiting • Expressing possession • Using can and must • Expressing the 'direct object'	34
5 Je tu někde knihkupectví? Is there a bookshop near here? Watching your Ps and Qs • Asking questions politely • Saying there is, there are • Saying that you like something • Forming and using adjectives in the accusative	48
6 Na celnici At customs Understanding questions about your person • Answering in an appropriate manner • Beginning to use plurals • Using some means of expressing reason and purpose	64
7 Kde jste vlastně studoval? Where exactly did you study? Saying something about past events • Saying more about going places • Using numbers above four	78

- 8 Nemůžu najít klíč I can't find the key
Using the past tense • Complaining about this and that
• Asking what something costs • Using higher numbers
• Giving and understanding simple directions 90
- 9 Kolik je hodin? What's the time?
Asking the time • Asking at what time something happens
• Saying what time it is • Talking about the future 104
- 10 Co mám koupit rodině? What should I buy the family?
Talking about the person(s) to whom something is given/said
• Using place expressions in the plural • Saying all 118
- 11 Ve čtvrtek k nám přijde návštěva We've got visitors coming on Thursday
Saying more about future events • Compensating for Czech's simple tense system
• Saying the days of the week • Saying the months of the year • Forming dates 132
- 12 Děti do školy vodí manželka It's my wife who takes the children to school
Talking about the most crucial types of movement • Saying what things look like • Expressing the means of doing something 148
- 13 Prší! It's raining!
Reading consecutive prose • Talking about the weather
• Using personal pronouns • Saying before and after
• Forming more expressions for telling the time • Expressing alternatives 162
- 14 Nehádejte se! Stop arguing!
Giving orders • Using some politeness formulae • Expressing wishes 178
- 15 Kdybych věděla, že přijdete ... If I knew you were coming ...
Expressing vain wishes using the conditional • Stating actual and theoretical preferences • Saying indirect commands • Expressing 'purpose' 190
- 16 Tak to bude rychlejší It'll be quicker that way
Making comparisons • Saying something is the best
• Talking about your children and pets 202
- 17 Kvůli politice se nerozčiluj! Don't get worked up over politics!
Describing what people/things are doing • Dealing with some features of written Czech • Saying whose 218
- 18 Nejdřív uděláme pořádek v Líbině skříni First we'll tidy Líba's wardrobe
Saying more about possession • Making suggestions
• Using the Czech equivalent of -ed 232
- 19 Dejte si něco na ochutnání Have something to taste
Using -ing (as a noun) to state your likes and dislikes
• Saying what things are good for
• recognizing and forming 'passive' sentences 246

Supplement: selected features of high- and low-style Czech	260
Taking it further	266
Key to the exercises	272
Glossary of grammatical terms	280
Appendices	285
Czech–English vocabulary	291
English–Czech vocabulary	311
Subject index	325