

Contents

Introduction: Teaching English to children

Christopher Brumfit

Section one Things to do and why

1 What is good primary practice?

Jean Brewster 1

2 Activity-based teaching: approaches to topic-centred work

Jackie Holderness 18

3 The role of fun and games activities in teaching young learners

Shelagh Rixon 33

4 'Ali, are you a boy or a monster?' Drama as an English teaching aid

Anne and Gordon Slaven 49

5 Using literature in language teaching

Ludmila Machura 67

6 The Golden Diary Project

Michel Tréchet and Vincent Raymond-Barker 81

7 Two lessons: five-year-olds and seven-year-olds

Leonora Fröhlich-Ward 97

8 English as a foreign language at primary level: the search for content

Ray Tongue 109

9 An integrative approach with young learners

Edie Garvie 115

10 The role of informal interaction in teaching English to young learners

Meriel Bloor 127

11 Using games in teaching English to young learners

Julia Khan 142

12 Listening and the young learner

Jean Brewster 158

13 Real reading needs real books

Richard and Rona Parker 178

14 Learning to learn

Gail Ellis 191

Section two Background papers

15 A framework for teaching English to young learners

Marion Williams 203

16 Young children learning languages

Joan Tough 213

17 International perspectives on children's developing literacy

Roger Beard 228

18 Literacy as social experience

Nigel Hall 244

19 The development of children's thinking and understanding

Diane Shorrocks 260

20 What's your background? The culture and identity of the bilingual child

Philip Riley 275

21 Teaching languages to young learners: patterns of history

A.P.R. Howatt 289

22 L2 syllabusing at primary level: the Italian perspective

Luisa Pantaleoni 302

Conclusion

Christopher Brumfit 309