

Content:

Introduction.....	5
1. Development aid without NPA elements – the states prior to incorporation..	6
1.1 Towards common principles and identity – bridging over the lack of human rights provisions in the founding treaties	6
1.2 Embodying human rights agenda into the external relations of the European Economic Community – the case association instruments	7
1.3 Towards a certain kind of aid conditionality? – Failure of the first “Lomé” debate	9
2. The real emergence of the NPA within the Lomé framework.....	10
2.1 The second “Lomé” debate	10
2.2 The end of the Cold War and Lomé IV negotiations.....	12
3. NPA as an issue of international concern – consolidating the new policy agenda within the Cotonou Agreement framework.....	13
3.1 From reluctance to a human rights clause	13
3.2 Democratization as a foreign policy goal – connection with human rights policy	15
3.3 New provisions of the Mid-Term Lomé IV review and the Cotonou Agreement	16
Conclusion	17
References	19